Accidents Kill Three Tots On Island

Three Vancouver Island children died in two widely separated accidents yesterday.

A freak accident took the life of a three-year-old Sidney boy when a stove toppled onto him as he played in a woodshed, and a baby boy and his three-year-old sister perished when a home was destroyed by fire near Port Alberni.

RCMP said William Burnson, 2203 Queens, was pronounced dead on arrival at Resthaven Hospital.

WILLIAM BURNSON

The boy had been playing in a backyard woodshed when the 80-pound stove fell on him.

He was found by his mother, Mrs. Verna Burnson only minutes after she had refused him a jam sandwich because of a planned early dinner.

Mrs. William Ewen, 10184 Melissa—the boy's grandmother who lives only 200 yards from the Burnson home—said her daughter came running to the house for her help.

"She was terrified and we phoned the police and ambulance," Mrs. Ewen said.

SEEMED HOURS

"After that we both ran to the woodshed, and I felt his pulse—I knew he was dead. It seemed like hours before the ambulance came, but I guess it was only a very few minutes," she added.

A small tricycle was found near the accident scene, indicating the boy may have accidentally tipped the stove while riding through the woodshed.

He is survived by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Burnson; a sister Debbie; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sapaford, and Mr. and Mrs. William Ewen.

Police said an inquiry will be held next week.

LEFT ALONE

One-year-old Patrick Joe died when flames completely destroyed the home of his parents on the Polly Point Indian Reserve on the outskirts of Port Alberni. His sister, Adeline, died a few hours afterwards from burns.

The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Joe had been left alone in the house while their parents went to town, police said last night. Two of the four escaped the fire unharmed.

The children's mother told RCMP that a heater had been left burning in the home.

Truckers Give Early

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario and Quebec trucking companies this week took a stand against the practice of giving Christmas gifts and diverted the money to education instead.

The 54 member companies of the Trucking Industry Foundation celebrated Christmas in September by handing out $44,000 to students instead of buying gifts for their customers.

Ross Not Quitting

Vancouver industrialist Frank M. Ross met with Premier Bennett late yesterday to find out his duties as a director of the Crown-owned B.C. Electric—not to resign from the job.

The former lieutenant-governor said he had had no opportunity until this time to acquaint himself with the duties, powers and scope of the directorship.

"After all, I received the appointment by telephone while I was away on holidays," he said.

NASSER GIVES UP SYRIA BLAMES 'IMPERIALISTS'

* * *

—(AP Photofax)

After hearing word of defeat in Syria, dejected President Nasser and Vice-President Kamal Hussein ponder a way to break news to Cairo masses.

Admits Collapse Of Arab Union

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic collapsed yesterday.

Syria declared its independence from the union with Egypt after a lightning revolution and set up a civilian transitional government to rule until a parliament can be named in free elections.

Nasser halted all military operations against Syria in a tacit admission of defeat.

SOCIALIST REGIME

Revlutionary Premier Mamoun Al-Kuzbari indicated last night in a broadcast that his government would be socialist. Al-Kuzbari said his cabinet would guarantee freedom of the press, election and "other freedoms" during a four-month interim rule and that his government would "implement true socialist policy."

Al-Kuzbari said that the new Syrian republic "once again reafirms that it is the pulsating and impregnable fortress of Arabism."

SWIFT VICTORY

The rebels' victory was so swift and so complete that both Jordan and Turkey immediately recognized the new Syrian government and pledged support. Other Arab nations jealous of Nasser's power were expected to follow suit.

Nasser has dispatched warships, transports and an expeditionary force including 2,000 paratroops Thursday from Egypt. Paratroops already had been dropping on the port of Latakia when Nasser learned of the success of the revolt and called off the invasion.

FORCE CAPTURED

Damascus radio said a force of 200 Egyptian paratroopers at Latakia had been "wiped out" but said later they were captured. Nasser told a rally in Cairo he had ordered 120 paratroopers dropped there to surrender so Arab would not fight Arab.

It was Nasser's greatest crisis since the Israeli and Anglo-French invasion of Suez in 1955 and he reacted bitterly with a speech in which he blamed the forces of imperialism for his defeat.

Shake-Up Likely In Middle East

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Syria's break with Nasser's United Arab Republic was expected to bring a re-alignment of Arab politics that could create new dangers to the stability of the Middle East.

Syria, long a centre of intrigue, was being heavily infiltrated with Communists before it merged with Egypt and Nasser outlawed the Communist party. As a separate country, it again could be subject to such influences.

INTERNAL ORIGIN

The Middle East also was expected to see a jockeying for power among Arab nations. Both Jordan, which quickly recognized the new Syrian government, and Iraq have ambitions of becoming the leader of the Arab world. Syria could fall into alignment with these states.

State department spokesman Joseph Reap said the uprising appeared to be of "internal origin." Other officials said the revolt apparently was not Communist-led although the Reds might try to make capital of it.

INTO BAD HOLE

Diplomatic observers said Nasser appeared to have "dug himself into a bad hole" by refusing to compromise politically with discontented Syrians who complained that their country was forced to play second fiddle to Egypt in the UAR.

The revolt came at a time when Nasser's relations with Russia appeared to be worsening. A propaganda battle broke out last spring between Moscow and Cairo.

Churchill Too Frail To Travel

CHARTWELL, England (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill declined Friday night an invitation to attend the Oct. 14 foundation-laying ceremony at a new Cambridge University college which is to bear his name.

Sir Winston's secretary said it was thought the 100-mile trip to Cambridge might be too much for the 86-year-old statesman, but "there is absolutely no cause for concern."

MP's Barbs Upset Columbia Hearing

* * *

H. W. HERRIDGE
. . . 'lot of bunk'

NAKUSP, B.C. (CP) — Provincial water comptroller A. F. Paget Friday threatened to adjourn public hearings on the proposed Columbia River development and hear testimony in private after a verbal run-in with H. W. Herridge, CCF MP for Kootenay West.

Mr. Herridge, describing himself as a property owner in an area which will be flooded out by the proposed High Arrow Dam, described as "a lot of bunk" statements made by Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission.

BY HIGH ARROW

Dr. Keenleyside told the hearing on the B.C. Power Commission application for a licence to proceed with the $458,000,000 Columbia works that 65 per cent of the expected power from the Columbia development would be provided by the High Arrow Dam. High Arrow, he said, would provide 80 per cent of the expected flood control benefits and, without it the proposed giant Mica Creek Dam could not be built.

LOT OF BUNK

Mr. Herridge said he was "astounded to hear what Dr. Keenleyside has said here today. It's a lot of bunk."

This remark was greeted with applause by a large section of 100 or more attending.

Water comptroller Paget intervened.

"If this is the way you intend to carry on," he told Mr. Herridge, "we will have to adjourn the hearing and listen to the witnesses at private sessions."

The Kootenay MP said he protested the granting of the water licence to the BCPC on the ground that it was not in the best interests, nationally, provincially or locally.

"In my opinion it is immoral for this generation to permit the destruction of 60 years of public and private investment to provide low-cost power in the U.S. and jobs for United States citizens."

Mr. Herridge contended High Arrow was a "second-best development" and said Mica Creek was the key to development.

Margaret 'Quite Fit'

LONDON (AP) — Buckingham Palace announced Friday night Princess Margaret's baby—expected at the end of October or early in November—will be born in Clarence House. Palace sources said Margaret, 31, is "quite fit and well."

Baptists 'Flirting' With Communists

TORONTO (CP)—The Gospel Witness, published by the Baptist Church, has accused the Baptist Federation of Canada with "collaboration with Communists."

The accusation came in the current issue of The Witness, in connection with the visit to Canada by three Russian Baptist ministers.

THREE NAMED

The three are Dr. Jacob Zhidkov, president of the All Union Evangelical Christian Baptist Council in Moscow and vice-president of the World Baptist Alliance; his son, Rev. Michael Zhidkov, and Rev. Ella Ivanov.

The Gospel Witness says the International Council of Christian Churches protested the presence of Dr. Zhidkov at the World Baptist Alliance when it met last year in Rio de Janeiro.

OPEN ARMS

"In the light of present day activity, when Baptist leaders fall for the Communist line of peaceful co-existence and welcome with open arms these representatives of the Communist regime which is godless and un-Christian, we see further justification for the stand taken and the far-reaching consequences of the effects of unbelief and modernism.

"Now we have these agents present in Canada and sponsored by the Baptist Federation of Canada," The Witness said.

Swift Death Ghana Rule

ACCRA, Ghana (UPI) — President Nkrumah's office announced yesterday a special supreme court with powers to pass the death penalty has been created to deal swiftly with persons convicted of anti-government activities.

A Nation Goes Silent A Wreath Asks Why

UPPSALA, Sweden (AP) — Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general of the United Nations, was buried at his boyhood home Friday with honors heretofore given in Sweden only to royalty.

Regal simplicity marked the last journey of the dedicated diplomat who travelled so many miles in the cause of world peace and the United Nations.

Wrapped in the blue-and-gold flag of his native Sweden, his coffin at the end held but a single wreath. It was that of his king, Gustav VI Adolf.

* * *

As the sun set, an order went out from the government for a nationwide moment of silence. Everything—cars, trains, factories, ships and people—came to a halt.

Men from all over the world paid homage in Uppsala's 700-year-old Lutheran cathedral to the secretary-general who lost his life with 15 others in a plane crash Sept. 18 while flying on a Congo peace mission.

* * *

King Gustav VI Adolf and Queen Louise walked slowly before the hushed crowd to the coffin.

The king stopped and bowed deeply—a unique tribute from a monarch to a commoner. The Queen followed and she too bowed to the bier. They stood for a long time.

* * *

Among the hundreds of wreaths, one stood out.

Sent by Hammarskjold's brother, Sten, and Sten's daughter, Marlene, it was a wreath of red daffodils and two red roses.

On a ribbon was the single word: "Why?"

There'll Always Be Motherland!

COL. M. DOPPING-HEPENSTAL
. . . 'poppycock!'

Six well-known residents of Vancouver Island yesterday rose up in anger to defend the feelings of those with close and affectionate ties with Britain.

The cause of their anger: a statement by Douglas Fisher of Port Arthur, Ont., CCF MP and a delegate to the Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference, that most Canadians no longer look upon England as a mother country but as a tourist attraction.

Mr. Fisher, speaking to the parliamentary conference in London Thursday, said:

"Unlike our Australian and New Zealand friends, we can't accept this whole business of mother country. The days when a Canadian could boast 'A British subject I was born, a British subject I shall die' are past."

"Poppycock!" Col. M. Dopping-Hepenstal, 90, snorted into his telephone.

"Lies," sniffed Lady Constance Drayton from her suite in the Empress Hotel. "Just the yattering of riff-raff."

"Never heard such damned nonsense," bellowed Frank Boucher, 77, president of Victoria's Royal Society of St. George.

When reporters telephoned Col. Dopping-Hepenstal, his housekeeper explained that the colonel was resting and shouldn't be disturbed. But he scurried to the telephone when told what had been said about Canada's attitude to England.

"Can't let this be said unanswered," he said. "It's nothing but poppycock. Never heard of such a ridiculous statement.

"Who is this Fisher? He doesn't know what he is talking about. He should be hauled over the carpet for this."

"It's lies," said Lady Drayton. "My heart, and I am sure the hearts of many, swells with pride when I know I am still connected to England.

"This man said a wicked, wicked thing. It makes me sad, so sad."

Mrs. Bertha Parsons, 74-year-old member of the Kipling Society, said Canadians mustn't lose the "spirit of England."

"My dear old father would rise in his grave if he heard such a stupid statement."

Canadian-born Gen. C. A. P. Murison of Duncan, said he still honors England as his mother country.

"We have to have a mother country. I think we should all be proud and grateful to have England."

Sir Philip Livingstone, former medical director of the Royal Air Force and once an honorary surgeon to King George VI, called Mr. Fisher's remarks "untrue, ill-conceived and disloyal.

"Things like that are often said by disgruntled people getting their own back because of a minor grudge," he said from his home at Qualicum Beach. "It's disgusting."

SIR PHILIP LIVINGSTONE

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

GREGORY CLARK doesn't like "skinny" fashion models. Merchants should hang their clothes on "real-life" girls, he says—meaning girls with more meat on their bones.

Real-life? What does he think the present models are? Mechanical dolls? Martians?

Let's have them "normal, round, short, tall, fat, lean, lumpy, bunchy, average," he says. Let's not have them looking "underfed."

Mr. Clark is a keen observer and a wise old bird, but anyone can tell from his column that he has never watched a fashion model at lunch, plowing through the soup, sirloin and baked Alaska—with the controlled efficiency of a weevil destroying a boll of cotton.

* * *

Anyone can tell that Mr. Clark has never paid for a fashion model's lunch. I never have, either. I couldn't afford it. I wish I could, because it would be a pleasant way to squander the rent money.

But if the author of "The Packsack" really imagines that slim girls are underfed, he is living in a world of dreams.

Slim girls are the hungriest of all. They eat up meat and vegetables the way a racing Ferrari eats gas.

* * *

The fact is that thin girls usually have powerful engines in them. They are the supertuned Jaguars of the feminine world.

Plump girls are the family sedans. There is a place for both kinds. Men like to gaze at lean, streamlined girls, just as they like to ogle racing cars and listen to the purr of all that power under the hood.

They like to gaze at plump girls too. But when the average man goes day-dreaming, he imagines himself steering a slim, vital, fast-wheeling girl down the road of life.

* * *

Mr. Clark seems to prefer the station-wagon type, or maybe, even, the family bus. But (I think) most men day-dream about slender girls.

And the girls like to think of themselves as streamlined, too. By inspecting the fashion models through half-closed eyes, and letting their minds drift away into outer space, they can equip themselves with a new set of measurements.

The slim models are not underfed. And they do exist in the real world. You can see them every day on the street, thank goodness.

He was elected district governor of Rotary International at the club's world conclave in Tokyo last May.

Rotary reports its organization is continuing to grow in numbers and strength. During the past fiscal year, more than 300 new clubs were organized in 43 countries and four new geographical regions were added to the membership roster.

VERNON (CP)—The union of B.C. Municipalities convention Friday approved a resolution asking that employable persons receiving social welfare be required to work for their keep.

Consideration of the resolution from Saanich highlighted the final day of the three-day convention.

WILL PETITION

The UBCM will petition the B.C. and federal governments to review existing policy in the welfare issue.

Major opposition came from Coun. R. E. Hicks of Burnaby, who claimed the resolution would harm the labor market for regular job-holders.

SCHOOL COSTS

Special executive resolutions favoring government subsidization of all school operating costs out of the proposed provincial income tax were approved.

The convention also:

- Decided to ask the B.C. government again for authority to hold sports on Sunday afternoons, if voters agree.
- Called for extension of municipal tax exemptions to include fallout shelters built outdoors as well as in basements.
- Voted to ask B.C. to guarantee municipalities the tax revenues they received from the BCE before it was taken over.
- Chose Kamloops as the site for its next meeting.
- Urged amendment of the Municipal Act to provide holding of municipal elections on Saturday, along with legislation which would make a simple majority sufficient in public voting on money by-laws.
- Proposed study of trade licence provisions of the Municipal Act to remove "the apparent injustices."
- Asked provincial government sharing of policing costs where highways run through municipalities.

Civil Defence assistance in cases of threatened civil disaster or civil disaster arising out of floods, explosions or other causes creating a local emergency will also be sought.

More regional planning boards and greater financial assistance to existing boards was another plea, and the UBCM urged control of indiscriminate dumping of garbage in organized areas.

Why Quibble Over Cholesterol? Think Thin—Cut Down All Fats

By JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: An article on cholesterol was the main topic of conversation at our bridge luncheon, so much so that our newest grandmother had no opportunity to show us the baby's pictures.

"One woman insisted that substituting oleomargarine for butter would lessen the forming of cholesterol. Is this true? — The Monday Club (per G.N.)."

Not exactly.

Ordinary margarine and butter are essentially the same in fat content and calories.

However, there are special margarines now available that contain a lesser amount of "saturated fats." It is these saturated fats which are currently thought to be one—and only one—of several factors in the cholesterol problem.

Anyway, the problem of cholesterol isn't nearly as easy as some articles make it out to be. It isn't the presence of cholesterol that does the damage, because cholesterol is a vital substance and we all have it.

ADROIT CHEMISTRY

The important question is this: What makes it accumulate on the linings of our arteries? After all, people who live solely on vegetables also have cholesterol in the bloodstream, because the body's adroit chemistry creates cholesterol from whatever is available in the line of food.

That question isn't answered yet.

My own conclusion, based on such information as has been accumulated, is simple enough.

First, let's do the obvious thing, which is to avoid obesity. Substantial overweight certainly does as much harm as cholesterol—and maybe more. So why not put first things first?

EAT LESS

Second, I think it might do some good, and certainly will do no harm, if we all get in the habit of eating less in the way of animal fats. There's no need to avoid them entirely, but just to cut down. Nowhere else in the world do people eat a diet so high in fats.

Third, which is a corollary, why worry about butter or margarine, when some moderate but daily attention to cutting down on the fat from beef, pork, ham or lamb will take as much cholesterol out of the diet as is represented by all the butter or margarine we eat?

DON'T QUIBBLE

The basic, simple, well-founded goal should be to achieve moderation in total fat consumption, rather than to quibble over whether this kind of stuff to spread on the bread is a little better or a little worse than some other kind.

In short, on this cholesterol-in-the-diet business, I'm afraid we are all being led astray, and are acting too much like the overweight dowager who, in effect, keeps insisting! "Put me on a diet—but make it a diet so I can eat all I want of everything I like."

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have eczema inside both ears. Is there any cure?—Mrs. L."

Most likely. The probable cause is a fungus infection, which produces scaling and itching. (Often there may be secondary infection.)

These fungus infections may follow swimming in water that happens to carry the fungus. It can be quite stubborn to control.

A mixture of alcohol and boric acid, half and half, soaked in a pledget of cotton, may help. Better still, have a skin specialist check to determine the exact nature of the trouble. (Eczema outside the ear canal is most likely to be an allergy, due to cosmetics, jewelry, etc.; inside, fungus is more likely.)

Mac Convinced Commonwealth Won't Be Harmed

HAROLD MACMILLAN
. . . in your interests

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Macmillan told Commonwealth members of parliament last night that the formation of the European Common Market "created, economically and politically, a situation to which we are compelled to react."

H said: "A decision not to join would have just as far-reaching consequences as one to join. As I said in the House of Commons on the 31st July, the political objective of the Treaty of Rome, which is to promote unity and stability in Europe, seems to me good in itself and in the larger interests of the Commonwealth."

Macmillan added: "If Britain can help this movement by associating herself with it, I believe that she should do so. Of course, any substantial injury to the Commonwealth would be far too high a price to pay for membership. But I do not believe that such an injury is a necessary consequence nor do I believe it is likely."

Discussing the political aspects of joining the market, Macmillan said that the argument that Britain would not be able to speak as freely and openly in its discussions with other Commonwealth countries was not very convincing.

He said Britain belonged to NATO, CENTO, SEATO and Western European union. "Yet these institutions deal with perhaps the most vital of all aspects of a national policy—defence."

'Some' Market Link For Commonwealth?

LONDON (UPI)—Several Commonwealth countries now may reconsider their positions regarding some "new form" of association with the European Common Market should Britain join, a highly informed source reported yesterday.

The source said this "re-thinking" resulted from the series of bilateral discussions here at the official level between various British ministries and seven Commonwealth countries which have been going on for the past two weeks.

Australia, Canada, New Zealand and the federation of Rhodesia sent special teams while India, Pakistan and Ceylon were represented by officials from their high commissions in London.

The source said the willingness to consider "some new form of association which the six might be able to accept" was a "marked change" from the attitude shown early this month in Accra at the Commonwealth finance ministers conference.

At the Accra meeting, he said, no one was willing to accept the associated overseas territories status.

The source declined to elaborate further on what the "new form" of association might entail.

Nikita Cuffs Japan

TOKYO (UPI) — Premier Khrushchev yesterday rejected Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's personal appeal to stop nuclear testing and warned that the presence of American troops in Japan could subject this country to Soviet attack if nuclear war erupts over Berlin.

The rejection and warning came in a personal message from Khrushchev to Ikeda. It was one of the most threatening he has yet sent to the pro-Western Japanese government.

INHERENT DANGERS

An official Soviet government statement also was received. It rejected the "halt-the-tests" appeal and warned of the inherent dangers to Japan of the American bases.

Ikeda had appealed to the United States and Russia to end nuclear tests.

The Japanese government rejected both notes. It said Russia is trying to shift the blame on the West to whip up world opinion.

Khrushchev accused Ikeda of turning Japan "into advanced military bases" where "foreign rocket installations are being constructed" for use against Russia and its Asiatic allies, Communist China and North Korea.

Moslems Mowed Down

ALGIERS (UPI)—French troops fired on a mob of Moslem demonstrators Friday in the east Algeria seaport of Philippeville, killing four and wounding 12.

The incident was the bloodiest single clash between demonstrators and forces of order during a week in which settler riots have plagued Algiers and other cities.

Most Moslems had laid low during the week of agitation against President de Gaulle's policies.

De Gaulle Decision Adds Fuel to Fire

PARIS (UPI)—President de Gaulle will retain some of the emergency powers he assumed last April to put down the generals' revolt, it was announced Friday.

The announcement added to fears of a new revolt by right-wing extremists in Algeria.

De Gaulle had planned to give up powers today, but violence blamed on the right-wing Secret Army Organization has been increasing.

However, de Gaulle will return his legislative power to parliament.

De Gaulle will make a nation-wide radio and television address Monday. If he announces new concessions to the Algerian Moslem rebels, officials fear the rightists may strike against him.

He may use the address to announce creation of a provisional Algerian government to pave the way for independence.

Whiffling Club

TO WHIFFLE, according to the dictionary, is to blow lightly and shift about. The word is beginning to fit our city council nicely.

The regime of Mayor Percy Scurrah started out well with the construction of a new point Ellice bridge and then a new headquarters firehall. Both undertakings were made possible without borrowing by a flourishing civic land-sale business, itself a credit to Mayor Scurrah and council.

But now the city has almost run out of land to sell, and judging from its works apart from the brace of parking buildings soon to be erected if all goes well, council has almost run out of steam.

Its record in the past couple of years has been undistinguished. It muddled its way through the arena affair unhappily. It took months to whiffle its way to adoption of a sign bylaw considerably weaker than almost anybody but the sign industry would like to see it. It took six months longer than necessary to pass a new anti-smoke bylaw which otherwise could have been having beneficial effects by now.

It whiffled for months about street lighting. It gave the job of studying civic auditorium possibilities to a special committee and then forgot about it while the committee went for months on end without meeting and finally—apparently on learning that auditoriums elsewhere operate at a loss—just shrivelled away. It gave the job of studying new city hall possibilities to another committee and forgot about it, while that committee did nothing.

Now it is whiffling its way toward the centennial year, without one plan definitely formulated and with the beginning of the year only three months away.

Victoria does not need a whiffling club. It needs strong leadership by men with a sense of purpose and a businesslike approach, men who will get things done, men who will not be swung by pressure groups nor by petty fears of criticism.

In December, the mayor and one-half the aldermen can be replaced. Mayor Scurrah, with a push-ahead council, could serve well again if he chooses to seek re-election; certainly better than any other mayoralty candidate of recent years.

But it is time for non-whifflers in the community to think of offering their services as aldermen, or as chief magistrate should Mayor Scurrah step aside; it is time for the voters to consider council's record, and it is high time for sitting aldermen, if they intend to change their ways, to show it.

The Nigerian Request

IN ITS REQUEST for Canadian technical and military assistance, the Nigerian government has offered Canada a chance of materially strengthening the hand of the West in Africa.

For some considerable time Nigeria has been looked upon as the West's strongest bastion along the strategically important west coast of Africa. Its determination to remain as such has manifested itself on numerous occasions, particularly through its constant and mounting battle against the infiltration of neo-Communist propagandists.

On this basis alone the Canadian government can hardly turn the request down. It is interesting, and perhaps even embarrassing, to note that the precedent for such an agreement was set through an earlier unfortunate Ottawa decision to assist in training the armed forces of Ghana—a country whose leader is now the main force behind the major effort being made to destroy Africa's link with the West.

Canada's best choice in the matter would be to accept the Nigerian proposal immediately while simultaneously withdrawing her training officers from Ghana. Admittedly this course would not conform to the best of diplomatic manners, but it would follow the best military dictum of all—that of reinforcing success.

Bright Spots Showing

CANADA'S economic and employment worries are by no means over, but current statistics show up a number of new bright spots which demonstrate that the government's expansionist policy is beginning to work.

Most impressive of the new Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures for the second quarter of this year, the gross national production was at the annual clip of $36,280,000,000, only $156,000,000 less than the all-time record quarter set up in the last three months of 1960.

There are good grounds for belief that the third and fourth quarters will be better than the second, and that the GNP for the year may outspan expectations in creating a new record for the country.

The revival in the second quarter of 1961 was chiefly in the spending habits of the consumer. Automobiles and other durable goods benefitted from the increased customer demand.

Up to now, largely because of doubts about what may happen to Canada if Britain joins the common market, large scale industrial expansion has lagged behind the rest of the economy, but corporation profits are up 13 per cent from a year ago, and in a number of industries it is apparent that the period of consolidation following the expansion boom of the 1950s is coming to an end, and that a period of new industrial development is at hand.

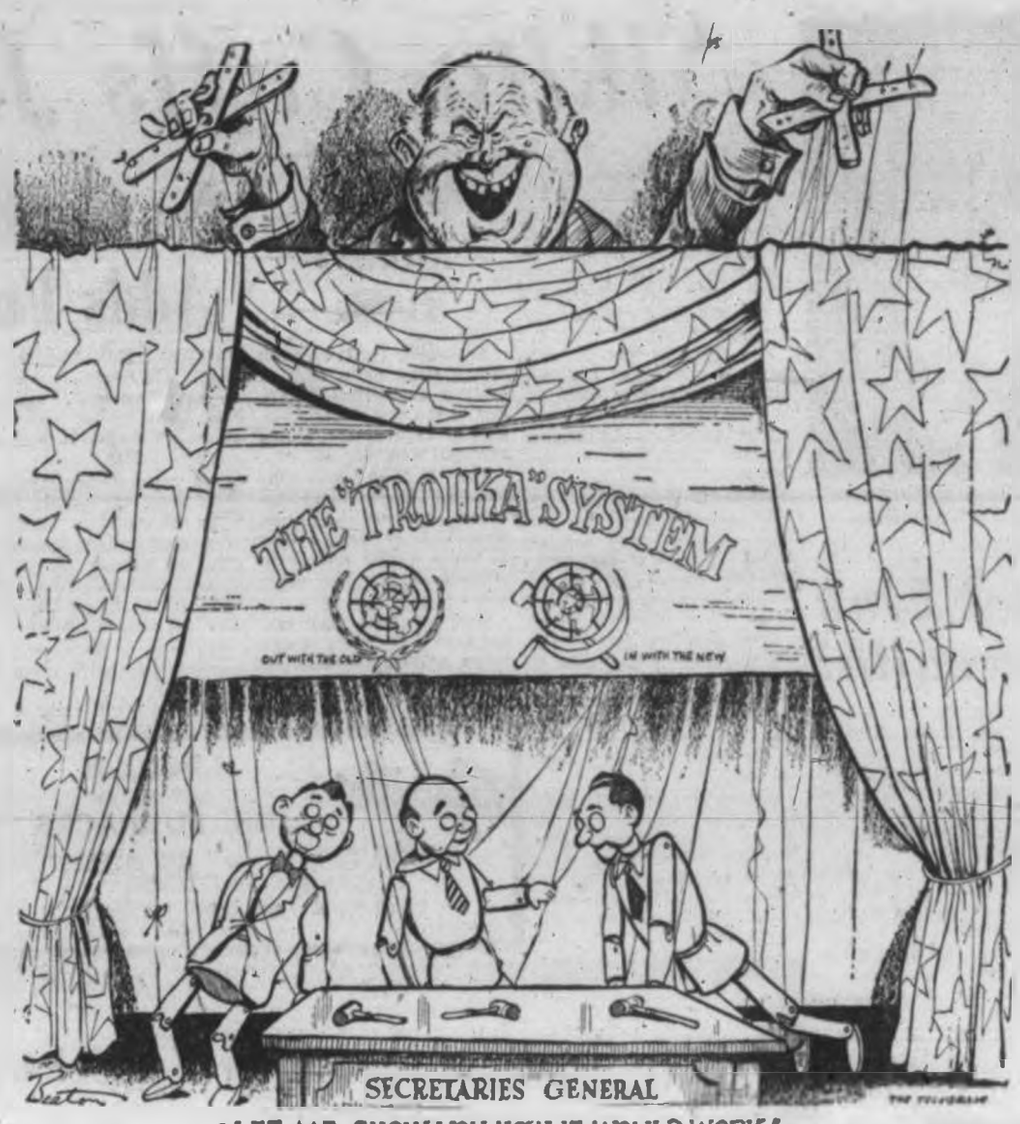

In British Columbia the big uplift in the economy may not occur until construction actually starts on the Columbia, or the Peace, or both, but the picture of recovery for the province is shaping up.

In August the B.C. labor force rose to 605,000 persons, up 16,000 from a year ago, and although the unemployment rate was still at an overly high 6.3 per cent, 22,000 more were employed than a year ago.

The B.C. mining industry, thanks mainly to Japan, is booming. Coal production is up over 13 per cent from a year ago. Lead production is up 10 per cent, and in the first half of the year production of natural gas rose from 42,000,000,000 cubic feet to 52,000,000,000 cubic feet.

Once the new oil pipeline from the Peace River to Kamloops is completed later this year most B.C. cars will be running from provincially-produced crude oil, with resulting royalty benefits to the B.C. treasury.

It is yet too early to predict that there will not be more serious unemployment in Canada this winter, but there can be little doubt that the federal government's policy of lowering the exchange value of the Canadian dollar and at the same time endeavoring to keep interest rates low by increasing the flow of money, is brightening the economic picture and at the same time raising the prestige of the Conservative party in the eyes of the electors.

"LET ME SHOW YOU HOW IT WOULD WORK."

Post-Election Germany

A Weaker Link in the Chain

By F. S. MANOR, from Bonn

WHEN, after a distance of a few days, one pauses to analyze the outcome of the German election, one cannot but reach the conclusion that the vote was conditioned by matters of foreign policy.

This, in turn, was something that was largely neglected in the election campaign, and it was the voter who took matters into his own hands to demand a foreign policy change. As the Daily Telegraph of London has remarked, Chancellor Adenauer took the Germans too much for granted, with grievous results.

Indeed, until the Berlin crisis, foreign policy in Germany was something one left in the good hands of Dr. Adenauer. But when Aug. 13 came, and with it the complete severance of East Berlin from West Germany, and still no proposals came forth on how to deal with the crisis, an important part of the electorate turned around and joined the ranks of the Free Democrats.

* * *

We now have on the political scene in Bonn the defeated Christian Democratic party of Dr. Adenauer, in itself a coalition between the Catholic Christian Democrats, a Protestant wing led by Prof. Ludwig Erhard, and the Bavarian autonomous Christian Social Union led by Franz-Josef Strauss. Mr. Strauss has held Bavaria without loss and this will undoubtedly enhance his stature in the party councils.

The fundamental basis of Dr. Adenauer's foreign policy is a close co-operation between Germany and France which, in turn, should lead to the creation of a United States of Europe. This would be a federation of countries which all have a democratic parliamentary system, a common social and cultural policy, and, above all, a single European foreign policy. A joint European foreign ministry is high on the list of priorities of the European Community. There should be a strong de-emphasis of national differences, and a complete disavowal of every sort of nationalism. Henceforth, the fatherland should be Western Europe, not its individual components.

This is the Adenauer goal, but it is not shared by all even within his own party. Dr. Ludwig Erhard, the vice-chancellor in the last Adenauer government and minister of economics throughout the Adenauer era, is much closer to the de Gaulle concept of "l'Europe des Patries."

Dr. Erhard is an old-fashioned German patriot and he does not wish to see what to him is typically German submerged in a new European community. To him integration of Europe is predominantly an economic task, which should facilitate the expansion of German industry and which should make Germany once again an important power.

* * *

As long as the Christian Democrats had a majority in the Bonn parliament, Dr. Erhard had only an even chance of becoming a chancellor. Dr. Adenauer was still looking for a successor two days before the poll despite the enormous election posters that showed Dr. Adenauer and Dr. Erhard together; Dr. Erhard looking over the chancellor's shoulder, over the slogan "Experience and Knowledge."

It is now believed that a large number of voters deserted the Christian Democrats to break the party's majority and force Dr. Adenauer to cede his post to Dr. Erhard. First of all, the substantial right-wing vote that had anyhow felt uneasy in the Adenauer party but remained there as long as matters went well, got a jolt with the Berlin crisis and bolted to the Free Democrats.

However, it was not the right-wing vote alone that deserted the chancellor. Many middle-class voters among the 30 per cent undecided, as counted by the polls a few days before election day, could not help feeling that the chancellor's foreign policy has suffered a setback, and that Germany should take a new look at her alignments. They, too, turned to the Free Democrats.

Despite the murky past of many of the Free Democrats, it would be wrong at this juncture to accuse them of any chauvinistic tendencies. At the moment they are all for NATO, for the European Community, and for all the other props of Dr. Adenauer's foreign policy. But, at the same time, they say in private what the voters were saying before the election: when the present crisis has subsided, let us take another good look at all this. Perhaps there is another way for Germany. Perhaps Germany could get a better deal by negotiating with the Soviet bloc direct, rather than having the Western allies negotiate on her behalf.

* * *

The matter is further complicated by the religious issue. Chancellor Adenauer's party is a Christian party, supported both by the Catholic and the Evangelical clergy. The Free Democrats, like the Liberals of Italy (a very right-wing party), maintain the 1918 tradition of rejecting all church influence in political affairs. Thus many, who might have otherwise approved Dr. Adenauer's policy, voted for the Free Democrats because they dislike ecclesiastical interference in politics.

The Social Democrats of Willy Brandt are, of course, at present more NATO-ist than NATO itself. However, there is a strong left-wing within the party that loves the Atlantic alliance about as much as the English crowds, that have been sitting down, of late, on London's wet pavements. German socialists have little love for European integration with its uniform social policy and a free movement of labor. They maintain that Germany's No. 1 problem is not Europe but German reunification.

Thus we have to face the fact that 49 per cent of the German electorate (36.3 for Social Democrats and 12.7 for Free Democrats) is dissatisfied with Dr. Adenauer's pro-European policy, is shocked by the Berlin debacle, and is entertaining vague notions of Germany's "going it alone," or else joining a big European neutral bloc in a free trade area, "from Scandinavia to the Adriatic," as the Free Democratic press chief explained to me. Such a bloc might try to follow an independent policy, armed neutrality in the conception of the Free Democrats, disarmed in the conception of the Social Democrats.

The two parties realize, of course, that German thought and German industry (in both meanings of the word) would clearly dominate such a bloc.

Of course, this is an idle dream. It would mean the break-up of NATO and the leaving of Europe at the mercy of the Communist world. This grim reality is faced squarely only by the Adenauer party.

Now the West has another weak link within its chain: a Germany where almost half of the electorate is looking over the shoulder to see whether it could find a better position for its disputations with the East. Either Mr. Khrushchev seems to have all the luck or else our policy needs urgent revision. The Western world should not repeat Chancellor Adenauer's mistake and take the Germans for granted.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

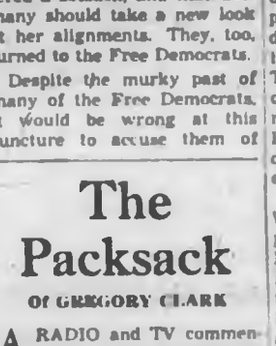

A RADIO and TV commentator of my acquaintance has made an interesting discovery.

"There are, of course," he told me, "people who don't like me. You can't be in the public eye and not have some who disagree with the majority. And the majority must like me, or I wouldn't be employed as I am. But do you know what? I don't like the people who don't like me! No, it isn't because they don't like me. I've met enough of them now, before I knew they disliked me, to satisfy me that the kind of people I don't like don't like me."

There is no doubt that there are types of people, and each type has its sympathies and antipathies. Aggressive, masterful men seldom have much regard for other aggressive, masterful men. Bossy women do not usually have a very high regard for other bossy women. Shy, introverted people do not easily cotton to other shy, aloof people.

The best and deepest friendships are between dissimilar types. This is possibly one of nature's little schemes for making us support and complement one another.

Washington Calling

A Position of Strength

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE calm and confident tone of President Kennedy's speech to this world organization derived in part from a new frame of reference. First, the president was speaking from a position of strength that has now been more clearly realized than at any time in the recent past and, second, he spoke with an awareness that it is for the first time possible to foresee reasonable negotiation with the Soviet Union over Berlin and Germany.

The two sides of this frame give a rather different look to what has been an almost unrelievedly gloomy picture. All the evidence available, and its scope cannot for a variety of reasons be disclosed, has convinced top policy-makers that American nuclear strength and the capacity to deliver that strength are preponderantly greater than that of the Soviet Union.

What is more, Premier Khrushchev knows this and he is fully aware of the careful appraisal of the relative strength of the two nuclear giants contained in top-secret files in Washington. This may explain why all the bluster and boast have been on the Soviet side in recent weeks.

It is certainly the reason the Soviet Union resumed nuclear testing at the risk of losing so much in the propaganda war. Military-scientific pressure helped to persuade Khrushchev, in the view of American officials who have valid reasons to know, that catching up with the United States was essential. Unfortunately in last year's presidential campaign the nation's nuclear status got tied up with partisan politics or it might be possible to spell this out more exactly. But, in any event, the president's wisdom in refraining from the public flexing of nuclear muscles seems evident.

A small fraction of America's nuclear power would devastate the Soviet Union and the capability of delivering this power these same officials do not doubt. That Khrushchev also understands. There is some small initial evidence, and this is the other side of the frame, that the Soviets are beginning to believe the United States is in complete and deadly earnest about defending basic rights in Berlin.

* * *

The signs of a change in the Soviet attitude are small. But so were the first signs in 1949 of a Soviet willingness to end the blockade of Berlin and come to the agreement reopening the access routes on the ground. The tender hope, just like the first uncertain crocus in spring, is that the parallel does exist and the way for a negotiation on broader terms than just Berlin and not held at gun point is opening up. The first private talk between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was in general, discounting initial statements for the propaganda record, in this context.

The president's speech was aimed at the negotiating target. He said the United States was committed to no rigid formula, sought no perfect solution and believed a peaceful agreement was possible with the protection of the freedom of West Berlin and the access routes to the city. That is, in effect, an invitation to negotiation.

The disarmament plan put forward by the United States bears a close family resemblance to the plans that have preceded it. But there is at least one important addition and that is in the proposal in Stage 1 that nations that now have the nuclear weapons would not relinquish control of such weapons to any nations not owning them and would not give any information or material necessary for their manufacture. Furthermore, as the present nuclear powers disarmed under inspection and control carried out by an International Disarmament Agency those outside the nuclear club would agree to cease and desist any and all efforts to join the club.

If the Soviet Union has a genuine fear of Germany obtaining nuclear weapons here is an opening. It could be the opening, although time is rapidly running out, that might lead to preventing Red China from moving into the nuclear weapons era.

* * *

In the new frame of reference there is already guarded talk among the president's associates of a timetable for negotiation and how the public is to be prepared. The speech the president has tentatively agreed to make at the University of North Carolina on Oct. 12 is considered in this planning stage as an opportunity to spell out the kind of negotiation that will take place and the range of compromise that can be expected. This will, of course, have to be put in general terms.

In the president's words on the search for peace and the terrible choice that mankind faces there was deep and eloquent conviction. He spoke with more force and feeling than at any time since his inaugural address. This was a plateau on which he stood looking both up, at the hope that sustains men everywhere, and down, into the abyss in which he quite frankly read the destruction not of one nation or one continent but of the planet itself.

The hopes of the present moment can be quickly dissipated. The signs of a changing attitude may be no more than heat lightning on the troubled horizon. Incredible as it may seem, there are apparently those opposed to any agreement. Incidents such as the U-2 do occur and intrusions into nuclear diplomacy can do great harm. But the words the president spoke point a way which, while still dim and uncertain, nevertheless may be the beginning of a path in the wilderness.

Ottawa Report

Looking for Leakages

By ARTHUR BLAKELY

AN irate Prime Minister Diefenbaker is reported to be pressing a rigorous investigation of precautions taken to prevent leakage of confidential government memoranda. Reason for the top-to-bottom probe is the recent publication by a Toronto newspaper of details of a finance department report alleging wasteful manpower practices by the armed forces. The memorandum was said to have reached cabinet via the treasury board.

* * *

LEADERSHIP: Ottawa observers have noted with raised eyebrows the strangely passive role adopted by CCF leader Hazen Argue since Parliament resumed its sessions at the end of the long summer recess. Earlier, Mr. Argue had built a formidable record as one of the most active parliamentarians. During the summer recess, however, he lost the New Democratic Party leadership race to Saskatchewan's Premier T. C. Douglas. Since then, he has seemed content to allow others to act as spokesmen for the CCF-NDP group in the Commons.

* * *

GULF: There are persistent reports, by the way, that NDP planners haven't yet succeeded in mending some of the breaches resulting from the New Democratic Party convention.

Old-line CCFers, who gave almost solid backing to the Argue for-leader movement despite Premier Douglas' distinguished record of service in the CCF movement, are still suspicious of the labor movement's role in the new party. Farm organizations, after a close second look, remain aloof. Personal relations between Mr. Douglas and his runner-up still aren't as close as had been hoped and expected.

* * *

FAR EAST: Although nothing has been said publicly, it is understood that the Canadian delegation at the United Nations is ready to consider the admission of Red China as part of a package deal with the Soviet bloc. Other parts of the package, reportedly, would be Communist concessions concerning settlement of the Berlin problem and/or the appointment of a successor to the late UN secretary-general, Dag Hammarskjold. The project is still at the exploratory stage.

* * *

NERVOUS IN THE SERVICE: Most of the existing batch of parliamentary secretaries are reported to be waiting with some anxiety for a sign that they will be reappointed.

The posts, supposed to provide training for future cabinet ministers, are for annual sessions only. The prime minister has made it clear that an initial appointment can be no guarantee of continuity in office. The positions are prized as stepping stones to the ministry.

* * *

ORGANIZATION: Some of the more talented young Conservative MPs who first entered Parliament via the 1957-58 general elections have already served notice of a desire to refuse renominations.

Reasons vary. But an important factor in most instances is that so many PCs were elected in 1958 that all of the avenues to promotion are clogged with traffic. Conservative headquarters, countering with hints at better opportunities ahead, is hopeful that some of the frustrated will reconsider when the election drums start beating.

The Whooper

Winning Battle

By KEN LIDDELL, from Regina

ONE of the most exciting stories taking place on the North American continent at the moment has nothing to do with threats to national survival, integration or the many other problems that man creates to plague himself.

It's a long-term battle to save a giant of a bird, the whooping crane.

The troops are scattered all the way from Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, a 47,000-acre sanctuary 75 miles north of Corpus Christi, Texas, to the Wood Buffalo National Park, in the Northwest Territories.

* * *

The troops are winning, slowly but surely, thanks chiefly to having overcome public apathy through the co-operation of the various media of publicity within the six states and two provinces that comprise the narrow flyway of the whooping cranes.

There has been a gain from 18 to 36 whoopers wintering at Aransas since 1938, when the decimation of the birds was first noticed. The battle is so desperate that one bird, found wounded in a Saskatchewan grainfield during a fall hunting season, was airlifted in a United States government craft flown to Regina to give the bird a fighting, although unsuccessful, chance to survive its injury in winter quarters.

The whooping crane stands five feet tall, with red-crowned head and black-tipped wings. Its wing-spread of seven feet carries it so high that often it flies out of sight. Desire to save it is simply to prevent from becoming extinct what is a beautiful creation of nature and for which man's ignorance was fashioning a future as tragic as that of the passenger pigeon.

The whooping cranes winter at Aransas in the far south and summer at Wood Buffalo National Park, some 2,000 flyway miles to the north. Their numbers are checked, both coming and going. Checking them in the north, done from aircraft, is no problem. The birds are so conspicuous they stand out like a tent on tundra. They can be seen a mile away.

The birds return south so systematically that it is possible at Aransas to tell whether it is the same adult and whether it has young. If two adults go north but only one returns, the loss is one adult. But it is possible there may be one young. So the see-saw battle goes on.

The birds were decimated by cultivation of the land and by unrestricted hunting. They once nested in Saskatchewan, but the last nest observed in that province was in 1920. Low point of the whooping crane population was in 1941-42 when it was estimated only 15 existed.

SPCA Cares

In reply to recent statements in Peter Bruton's Notebook about the incident of the cocker spaniel pup, I would like to have this opportunity of assuring your readers that the SPCA DOES care.

The second article stated that effects were made to contact the owner, but it did not make it clear that although we checked with the telephone company and the public library, we were not able to get a telephone number.

We therefore had no choice but to care for the pup until it was claimed and the only telephone call received was after the pound had closed on Friday night.

Blaming the SPCA for the bad feeling that exists between neighbors over a pup, is like kicking the cat down the stairs after stubbing your toe on the bedpost.

Healthy View

Of paramount importance to Canada is the announcement in Ottawa this week of a $5,000,000 grant, to aid amateur sport and physical fitness. More such announcements could effectively align a nation's constructive thinking towards a more healthy and optimistic view of a future too heavily freighted with impending disaster and too clouded with that outcrop of escapism—"Nihilism"!

Locally, a movement to organize and encourage debating, would perhaps start collective and potential "grey-matter" on a surging move towards possible resolution of many problems, and a pleasurable exercise of man's greatest hope, viz., moral growth.

By such a movement Victoria might uncover ideas that would alert the UN out of deadlocks, vetoes and other delaying snares. Africa, China, Germany, could be "aired" to greater clarity, etc., and international interest, tourist or otherwise would result.

Danger Point

One notes with interest the complaint of a resident of the 2000 block on Nell Street re the traffic problem. The corner of Neil and Foul Bay Road is definitely a danger point which I have been watching for some months, wondering why someone has not been killed ere this. I believe that the speed here can be laid to the fact that there is not one pedestrian crossing in over a mile from one side to the other of Foul Bay Road, a fully built up area. Evidently the drivers have the idea that if they catch a person on foot on a road it is quite in order to run them down, so they come up it on the fly and in the case of Neil Street, turn into it at the same speed.

The people of Foul Bay Road have been most tolerant in this matter. It seems to me that the way to stop it is to paint frequent pedestrian cross walks from one side of the road to the other, between Fort Street shopping centre and Lansdowne Road; better still would be a traffic light halfway up that mile so as to break into the joy of speeding. We are told that Foul Bay Road is to become the driveway to the new university. When that becomes so people in the area will have a slim chance of reaching old age considering the lack of sense shown by the students in defying the traffic laws up town a few days ago and last year.

Prairies' Drought Slashes Wheat Crop 47 Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's wheat crop will be an estimated 260,500,000 bushels, down 47 per cent due to Prairie drought, the bureau of statistics reported Friday.

The estimate compared with last year's crop of 489,600,000 bushels and the 10-year average of 497,400,000 bushels.

The Prairie wheat-yield was estimated at 239,000,000 bushels.

Saskatchewan has an estimated wheat crop of 124,000,000 bushels or less than half the 1960 crop of 308,000,000 bushels. Manitoba's wheat is judged to be about 32,000,000 bushels contrasted with 62,000,000 and Alberta's estimate is for 83,000,000 bushels compared with 100,000,000.

The one cheerful note was the fact that the Prairies for the second year in a row had "very satisfactory" harvesting conditions.

Oats production is forecast at 327,500,000 bushels, compared with 456,100,000 last year. Barley forecast is 121,900,000 bushels contrasted with 207,000,000.

Rye crops will yield an estimated 6,200,000 bushels compared with 10,100,000. Flaxseed output is assessed at 15,000,000 bushels compared with 23,000,000.

QUINELLA (DUSTY GEORGE TO LaVISCAINA) PAID $32.70

At post and off at 4.02. Time, :23 2-5, :47 1-5, 1.13 2-5. Weather, cloudy. Track, good. Start, good. Won driving. Winner entered to be claimed for $1,000. Handle, $5,632. Quinella, $5,538.

DUSTY GEORGE had to be hustled to get good position in first quarter, then moved up on outside going down backstretch, gradually took over and stood hard urging through stretch to last. LaVISCAINA forced Lady Gallant all the way, disposed of her leaving backstretch, accepted challenge of winner turning for home, but was not quite good enough. LADY GALLANT sprinted to front from gate, but was unable to hang on after going a half, though showing gameness by responding to strong handling turning for home and came on again, but was outrun near finish. SAANICH PRINCE moved up going down backstretch, but did not menace leaders. GREAT COUNT did not appear dangerous at any time. BEES AND HONEY had some early speed. FAY'S STAR could not move up to leaders. Declared—New Gold, Sandown Sue. Overweight—LaViscaina (1), Saanich Prince (2), Bees and Honey (1).

Pearson 'Available'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lester Pearson, the man who once gained an international reputation as Canada's spokesman in the UN said Saturday he'd take the job of secretary-general of the world body if it was offered to him.

"It's a hypothetical question, but of course I'd accept," the national Liberal leader said. "I don't think any man would refuse a job like that."

"But there isn't a chance."

King Fisherman

Just What Doctor Ordered

Port Renfrew has done it again in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest.

John Brizan caught a 20:10-pounder yesterday morning to tie Jim Cooper of New Westminster for the coho lead. Frank Elliott boated a 19:9-pounder last night to claim honors for the subscriber with the biggest coho.

Both Port Renfrew men made their catches in San Juan Bay, Mr. Elliott using a T-spoon and Mr. Brizan a homemade combination of bucktail fly and whole herring.

Mr. Cooper and Mr. Brizan stand to win trophies while Mr. Elliott leads for the subscriber's coho prize of a Viking outboard motor.

Thursday's storm was bail for salmon net fishermen at the entrance to Juan de Fuca Strait but may have been just what the doctor ordered for sport fishermen in the Sooke-to-Victoria waterfront.

Gillnetters and seiners have been pounding it pretty heavily out on the Bonilla Line where a fairly good body of coho had built up. Until Thursday there had been no rain and no storms to bring the fish in toward the spawning streams.

MILLED AROUND

They milled around the entrance to the strait and gradually their numbers were depleted by net fishermen.

Thursday's storm could have been enough to start off at least some migration to the spawning streams. It did put a damper on net fishing operations and gave a chance for the salmon to duck in under the almost continuous wall of nets and make their escape for a dash of another few miles to lay their eggs in the streams.

MUCH LIGHTER

Those fish could reach Sooke or Victoria waterfront waters late this weekend to be faced by sports fishermen waiting to take their toll, which will be considerably lighter than that taken by the wall of seiners and gillnetters.

Thursday morning some of the gillnetters succeeded in completing their night catch, but many were blown off the water. Seiners did practically nothing during the day.

OTHERS CLOSED

This week Juan de Fuca Strait was the only Vancouver Island area open to salmon net fishermen and the big push was at the entrance to the strait. All other areas were closed for conservation purposes.

Next week most areas will be open two days, but Juan de Fuca Strait area will be open from 6 p.m. Sunday to 6 p.m. Wednesday.

HAS BEEN HOT

King Fishermen anglers, who start their final two weeks of contest fishing Sunday, are catching coho pretty well all over the Island. Cowichan Bay has been hot, Oak Bay has been producing fairly well and coho are being caught the complete length of the east coast, although nowhere in great numbers.

Search of Gratitude Ends in 'Not Known'

Return of a letter marked "not known" has apparently ended a Victoria veteran's search for the nurse who, 43 years ago, saved his right arm and, he's convinced, his life.

William James Mackenzie, now 80 and a retired engineer living at 532 Dallas, was a lieutenant with the Canadian Scottish Regiment in France in 1918 when a shell-burst caught his right elbow with shrapnel.

By the time he was moved to Wandsworth Common Hospital in London the wound was swollen and painful with infection.

It was then a young nurse, standing by his bedside, told him: "I'm taking you under my wing."

Standard treatment of the time was doing nothing for the infection, and the nurse told Lieut. MacKenzie that normal procedure would be to leave the arm until gangrene set in, then amputate.

"The nurse — she told me her name was 'Peggy' and a double-barrelled name she didn't like—came in one day after the surgeons left, and told me she was going to save my arm.

"She never told me what she was doing, but she had me bathe it continuously for a month. My temperature dropped and I knew I was on the mend."

A year after his return to Canada the young officer received a letter from the nurse telling him her name was Kathleen Dutton-Cox, and that she would soon be married.

SOUGHT 'PEGGY'

Throughout the years he remembered the nurse who had saved his life, and when last summer he went back to the Old Country to visit friends, he tried to find "Peggy."

He went to the War Office with his story, and was told they'd see what they could do.

After his return to Canada, he heard from the War Office.

LAST ADDRESS

The last address they had for "Peggy," they said, was in 1924. Unfortunately, his forwarded letter had been returned, marked "Not known."

"It would have been pleasant to see her again, and thank her," said Mr. MacKenzie yesterday.

Most Island Waters Reopen This Week

Federal fisheries department will reopen most Vancouver Island waters to salmon net fishermen in the early part of next week.

The Juan de Fuca Strait areas 19 west and 20, starting at William Head, will have the longest netting period, three days starting at 6 p.m. Sunday until 6 p.m. Wednesday.

EXTRA DAY?

Other areas until Oct. 7:

Areas 12 to 16, Alert Bay, Quathiaski, Comox, Westview, Pender Harbor will be open from 6 p.m. Sunday to 6 p.m. Tuesday, with possibility of an extra day of fishing if salmon runs warrant it.

Same times apply for areas 17, 18, 19 east, Nanaimo, Ladysmith and Cowichan, Sidney to William Head.

Areas 23, 24, 25 and 26, Barkley Sound, Clayoquot Sound, Nootka Sound and Kyuquot will be open from 6 p.m. Monday to 6 p.m. Wednesday. Nitinat and Quatsino areas are closed for the remainder of the season.

During the past week only the Juan de Fuca Strait area has been open for net fishing, with all other areas closed for conservation of coho, late pinks and early chums.

'Do More For Peace'

Need for more positive, constructive steps on the part of everyone to avert possible world destruction was stressed yesterday by Dr. John A. Chapman of the federal forest biology laboratory during a speech to Victoria Lions Club.

"It's time that we the people did more than we have been doing to preserve this world of ours," he said.

Dr. Chapman said if Canada could co-operate with Russia it would be of benefit on five fronts—forestry, northern development, mining, the prairies and fisheries.

Dr. Chapman said the world had lost some of its morality and that the concept of the "open city" had gone with Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Sentence for Theft Ticket to Old 'Home'

A man who for years has hardly spent any time "outside" was on his way back to jail yesterday.

Roy William Lindley, no fixed address, pleaded guilty in city police court to two charges of theft—one of an electric drill valued at $59.95 and one of theft of a similar drill worth $29.95, both from Mc & Mc store, 1400 Government.

Det. William Andrews told the court he had arrested Lindley Thursday afternoon in a downtown beer parlor.

He was sentenced to six months in jail on each charge, concurrent.

Crude Bomb Misses Nehru

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru narrowly escaped possible death when a crude bomb exploded in front of a railroad station here last night as his car passed by.

The explosion injured a policeman and five pedestrians. They all were taken to hospital. Nehru was returning home after opening a fair in celebration of Mahatma Gandhi's birthday.

At the fair, Nehru appealed to 78-year-old Sikh leader Master Tara Singh to end his "fast unto death" for a separate Punjabi-speaking state within India.

Nehru asked Singh to stop fasting by Oct. 2, the date of the birth of Gandhi.

"We have parliament and state legislatures, where all matters ought to be discussed and decisions reached," Nehru said.

Philippines Threatens Cuban Ties

MANILA (UPI)—The Philippines yesterday threatened to break relations with Cuba if the charges of a Cuban defector that its embassy is used for spreading Communist propaganda are found to be true.

Jorge Freire Gonzales, 26, Cuban embassy attache who defected Thursday, charged that the embassy is a "centre of Communist propaganda, and that Cuban charge d'affaires Andres Avino Soler is an "active and militant Communist."

Foreign Secretary Felixberto Serrano said the charges will be investigated, and if confirmed, "I will have no hesitation in recommending the severance of diplomatic relations with the Cuban government and the eventual closure of the Cuban embassy."

Other Filipino leaders, including Jose Lucban, director of the National Bureau of Investigation, urged a break with Cuba.

Today's Opening of Villa for Aged Latest Milestone for Kiwanis Club

Latest milestone in a continuing project of the Victoria Kiwanis Club will be marked today, with formal opening of the new Villa at Kiwanis Village.

The structure, actually two-thirds of the ultimate building, will provide accommodation for 50 senior citizens. Each will have a private bed-sitting room, with meals and room service provided.

Opening ceremonies will be conducted today at 2 p.m. by Ed Mallek, governor of the Pacific North West District of Kiwanis, who in 1951 proposed to the Victoria club the development of a senior citizens' housing project to be known as "Kiwanis Village."

First six units—on property bounded by Cook, Lang and Cedar Hill Road—were completed and occupied in July, 1953.

COTTAGES

Now, with opening of the major part of the Villa, the Village contains 50 individual cottages for deserving elderly couples and survivors, and the Villa's quarters for another 30 single elderly residents. There are now about 130 tenants.

When complete, the Villa will house 74 residents, and will include three sun lounges, a dining room for 100 persons, a chapel auditorium to seat 200, plus administration offices and accommodation for staff.

3,000 OCCUPANTS

Kiwanis Village Society, which operates the project, estimates that 3,000 deserving elderly citizens will occupy the Village and Villa in the next 50 years.

A cottage for two rents for $25 a month, and contains a large sitting room, bedroom, small kitchen, modern bath room; all on one level, all electrically heated. Each has a patio and garden area.

ROOM SERVICE

Tenants of the Villa pay $69.50 per month for their room, meals and room service.

If one of a Kiwanis Village couple should die, the survivor needn't leave the area. Single units are available at $16.50 per month. These are built in dual-units, with a bed-sitting room and kitchen for each occupant and a shared bathroom.

Members of the society have expressed their gratitude to citizens of Victoria, whose contributions have been a major factor in construction of the project; to merchants and contractors and to the city of Victoria itself.

The Quoit Game That Changed the Face of Spring
The Legend of the Hyacinth

Hyacinthus, a handsome mortal, was the favorite of Apollo the Sun God and Zephyrus, God of the West Wind. One day as Apollo and Hyacinthus were playing quoits, they were spied upon by Zephyrus — who flew into a jealous rage. Waiting for Apollo's turn to throw the quoit, Zephyrus blew it off course, striking Hyacinthus in the head.

The blow killed the boy at once. Grief stricken, Apollo vowed that the beauty of his young friend should be immortalized, and from the blood of the youth he created the rich, fragrant flower known as the hyacinth.

Since then, the hyacinth has transformed the face of many Springs with its clear, rainbow colors and haunting, heady fragrance.

References to the hyacinth are found in some of man's earliest writings but it took till the 16th Century for it to reach Europe. By the 18th Century, it had become the "fashion" flower of France where you needed literally a king's ransom to buy certain hyacinth bulbs. Madame de Pompadour (who had a king of her own) insisted upon hyacinths to decorate the grounds and great halls of the Palace of Versailles.

But it was in Holland that the hyacinth found its true home. There, four centuries of loving care and devotion by Dutch horticulturists have brought about a startling transformation from a sparsely flowered plant to today's rich petalled varieties with the deep, unmistakable fragrance.

Hyacinths can be grown in many colors including the truest and largest number of blues of any Spring flower. Artistically inclined flower lovers find them perfect for decorating. They'll grow indoors or out, in gardens, window boxes, on rooftops or terraces — wherever the hyacinth fancy strikes you.

Caution: be certain your bulbs — hyacinths, tulips, daffodils, crocuses — come from Holland, the bulb basket of the world. Bulbs from Holland are carefully inspected, certified free of pests or disease. Result: they will grow almost anywhere — and so easily. Just dig a hole, drop one in and cover it. You may wait a bit longer for blooms than Apollo did — but you'll find it well worth while. And the cost is pleasingly low. Just be sure the bulbs say "Imported from Holland."

Another Big Crowd For Detroit Game

Late rush at the ticket windows at Memorial Arena has guaranteed another good crowd for an exhibition hockey game tonight.

Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League take on the Western Hockey League champion Portland Buckaroos at the Arena at 8.30 and there were only 800 tickets left when the wickets opened this morning.

Detroit, which has strengthened its defence this year with the addition of former All-Star Bill Gadsby from New York, last night continued its unbeaten streak in western exhibition games by barely getting past Vancouver Canucks, 2-1, in Vancouver.

Red Wings have played 33 exhibition games in the west without a loss over a period of six years. A 4-4 tie with Edmonton, their top farm team, in Brandon earlier this year, is the only blemish on the record.

Red Wings played last night's game without ace forward Gordie Howe and centre Norm Ullman, both out with injuries.

Jack Adams, Wings' general manager, said Howe would rejoin the club Monday and probably would be in the lineup next Tuesday when it plays Edmonton in Red Deer.

THEY MISSED 'EM

Last night the Red Wings looked as though they missed Howe and Ullman. The Canucks, a club that has been built from scratch this season by Art Chapman and Phil Maloney, outshot the Wings, 32-23, and forced Detroit goalie Hank Bassen, a former Canuck, to make several key saves.

Vic Stasiuk took advantage of a Vancouver defensive lapse to score at 15.57 of the third period to give Red Wings the victory before 4,032 fans.

TIES GAME

A first-period goal by defenceman Marcel Pronovost gave Detroit the lead and the Canucks tied the game late in the second period on a backhand shot by Hugh Barlow. Wings' Howie Young was sitting out a minor penalty when Barlow scored.

There are two more exhibition games billed for Victoria next week. Seattle and San Francisco, both WHL clubs, are scheduled to play Portland in Esquimalt Arena next Wednesday and Saturday nights.

FIRST PERIOD
1. Detroit, Pronovost (Godfrey, Johnson) 1:34.

2. Vancouver, Barlow (Maloney, Defelice) 17:48.
Penalties: Young 8:30, 17:38; Odrowski 15:20.

Latest contender for tenpin honors in the Munn family is 16-year-old Bob Munn, one of a strong contingent of good young bowlers on city lanes this year. Father Ken is a former Vancouver Island champion.—(Bill Boucher photo.)

New Crop of Bowlers Earn Good Averages

By JIM TAYLOR

A wave of young bowlers has hit city lanes this year, and some of them are ready right now to shoulder their way into competition on even terms with the adults.

There has always been some sort of junior league operating at most bowling establishments. But in the past two years, as more lanes and tougher competition made it imperative to develop new bowlers, junior development has been on the upswing.

There is no accurate figure as to how many juniors are bowling in Greater Victoria at the moment. But there are hundreds. This year they should really make their presence felt.

BETTER SCORES

As they have done in hockey, curling and baseball, the kids have gone into bowling with a dedication that is shown in the ever-improving scores.

One example of this dedication is 16-year-old Bob Munn, who shows promise of being one of the finest tenpin bowlers ever developed here.

Bob is the son of two-time Vancouver Island champion Ken Munn. Last year he averaged 154 in junior league play. When the league packed up, Bob kept right on bowling.

WORKED ON IT

Through the summer he worked on his game. Now, after three weeks of league play, Bob's average is up to a fine 180, and he can give his dad a game any day of the week. Father's average is 181.

"About the only thing I showed him was to slow his ball down and quit trying to throw it through the back of the alley," explains the senior Munn. "The rest he worked out himself."

Bob Munn is by no means the only promising junior tenpinner. Wally McKay, the top junior last year, is stepping into the adult leagues this year with a 169 average, and others are good enough to give Munn a real fight for top honors.

SAME STORY

The same situation exists in the fivepin leagues, where much of the bowling is done in high school leagues. This year there is a move afoot to have school leagues for young tenpinners.

Last season there were 13 tenpinners in Greater Victoria with averages of 180 or better. With more and more emphasis on the junior leagues, the figure is bound to go up.

* * *

Five city fivepin bowlers compete tomorrow at Grandview Recreations in Vancouver in a try for an expense-paid trip to Toronto and a chance to bowl on television.

Each fivepin house in B.C. will have a representative at tomorrow's competition, and the winner will go to Toronto next weekend to tape a fivepin series for a CBC network show.

Representing city lanes after winning 10-game roll-offs are:

Wayne Hendry (Gibson's, 2,694); Bill McKinnon (Loomer Lanes, 2,666); Emil Liska (Esquimalt, 2,597); Cy Wallis (Capital City Lanes, 2,559) and Stan Jones (Strathcona, 2,500).

* * *

How-wrong-can-you-get department:

A couple of weeks ago, commenting on Harry Smith's perfect 450, we said that the first perfect fivepin game had been bowled in 1953 by Doug Romkey, 18 at the time, at Capital City Lanes.

It was at Capital City in 1953 all right, but the boy's name was Roy Morberg, and he was 15.

WE BOW

Included in the same article was a crack about Don Shaw, who sent us the newspaper clippings, as "a tenpinner whose memory is better than his average at the moment."

Mr. Shaw is understandably having the last laugh at a reporter whose memory obviously needs as much improving as his average.

* * *

Annual general meeting of the Victoria Fivepin Association will be held tomorrow at 11 a.m. at Capital City Lanes. Officers will be elected for the new season.

All fivepin leagues are asked to send a delegate, and all bowlers are welcome. The meeting, properly supported, could do a lot to make the new season a much better one.

Winning Back Title Big Task for Paret

NEW YORK (AP)—Benny (Kid) Paret held the world welterweight boxing championship, 11 months before losing it to swashbuckling Emile Griffith.

The 24-year-old Cuban gets a return title crack at Griffith in a 15-round fight at Madison Square Garden tonight. (Channel 4 at 6 p.m.)

"I'd sure like to get the title back," said the Cuban fighter through an interpreter. "You don't know what being champion means until you're no longer champion."

The odds are 3-to-1 however, that the muscular, aggressive Kid won't dethrone Griffith.

Griffith, 23-year-old Virgin Islands native now living in New York, has won eight straight fights over strong opponents and has shown improvements — especially in power—with each fight.

Griffith's record is 23-2, including nine knockouts. He never has been stopped.

Paret's record is 33-10-3, including nine knockouts. He has been stopped twice.

Backstrom Paces Habs

SEATTLE (AP) — Centre Ralph Backstrom got a hat trick Friday night as the Montreal Canadiens defeated Seattle 10-2 in an exhibition hockey game.

The National Hockey League team scored six goals in the first period and ran up a 10-0 advantage before Seattle's Western Hockey League entry could break through.

O'Toole, Ford All Ready For Southpaws' Opener

Jim O'Toole and Whitey Ford, the two lefthanders who are scheduled to face each other in the opening game of the world series next Wednesday, got their final pre-series warmups yesterday. And both looked good enough to make their series clash a pitchers' battle.

O'Toole went against the Pittsburgh Pirates, the team dethroned by Cincinnati Reds, and received credit for his 19th win although taken out after five innings.

He gave up four hits and Pittsburgh's run as the Reds won, 8-1. Ken Johnson and Roadblock Jones finished up without allowing a Pittsburgh hit in the last four innings.

Ford was asked to go only six innings, and he was equally as effective. The veteran pitched scoreless baseball, gave up five hits and left with a 1-0 lead. But he missed getting his 26th win because the Red Sox tied it up against Luis Arroyo in the seventh.

Ford's 25-4 record left him with a .862 won-lost percentage, the best in the league since John Allen of Cleveland had a .938 mark with a 15-1 record in 1937. The 25 wins are the most in the AL since Dave Ferriss of the Red Sox won that many in 1946.

The Yankees finally won, 2-1, when catcher Johnny Blanchard, playing in the outfield, singled in a run in the ninth inning. Blanchard also provided the Yankees with their first run, hitting his 21st homer in the fourth inning.

It was, however, another bad day for Roger Maris, now with only two games left in which to get his 61st home run.

With Bill Monbouquette bearing down on every pitch and being careful not to give him anything good, Maris walked twice and popped up twice.

Meanwhile, there were continued indications that Mickey Mantle will be ready for the opening game of the series although he will remain in hospital until late today. He underwent minor surgery on Thursday for an abscess on his hip.

Mantle will not, however, play in the last two league games. He thus wound up the season with 54 home runs, a .317 batting average, 163 hits, 126 bases on balls and 114 strikeouts.

The Reds came up with an injury yesterday when Darrell Johnson, a one-time catcher in the Yankee chain who figured to be Cincinnati's regular in the series, strained a muscle in his left side. It could not be immediately discerned whether or not the injury will keep him out of the series.

Dave Skrien Given Lions Job for '62

VANCOUVER (CP)—Directors of the B.C. Lions football club Friday night appointed Dave Skrien as coach for the 1962 season.

Skrien became coach of the last-place Western Football Conference club earlier this month following the suspension of Wayne Robinson.

B.C. Lions president Ralph Henderson said Skrien was appointed to give the coach and players "a maximum opportunity to develop the team for 1962."

Skrien, 32, and holder of a master's degree in physical education, joined the Lions as a backfield coach three years ago.

His salary was not disclosed.

Comeback at Sandown—Dos Domingo Wins Again

By JIM TANG

An nine-year-old bay gelding who once ran with the best and only last year was ruled off British Columbia tracks because he wasn't considered sound, finally found his way back to the winners' circle yesterday at Sandown Park.

Dos Domingo is his name, and he hasn't been there since May 20, 1959, when he breezed to victory over Flying Flute and Tropical at Vancouver's Exhibition Park.

Once owned by Dave Diamond, Dos Domingo ran at Sandown in 1958, beaten a half length in a blanket finish by Glo-Reign, Nudger and Sleepy Star in his last start there. Then he was shipped to Tanforan, made two starts at Exhibition Park in 1959 and was ruled off B.C. tracks in 1960.

RECORD CLEAR

Saanich horseman M. R. Griffith eventually became its owner and the veteran gelding was put in charge of trainer Norm Leaver. Application was made for reinstatement this year, and given when a veterinarian certified Dos Domingo was sound.

In three spaced starts this year at Exhibition Park, Dos Domingo showed slow improvement, taking show money the third time out—beaten by Panjandrum and Pro Tick and four lengths out in fairly good time for a track rated good.

LIKE BEFORE

Yesterday, in against a field of non-winners in 1961 and again getting a soft racing strip, Dos Domingo at least showed something like his old self in the stretch as he whizzed by his field to win going away.

The time wasn't much, even on the off track, but those who remembered and took a chance that there was still enough class left to beat what was perhaps Dos Domingo's easiest ever opposition were rewarded with an $8.70 payoff and if they hit on Winmar in the second race, collected $61.80 for the daily double.

DROPS DOWN

A somewhat similar situation existed in the last race, in which Dusty George, a Sandown whiz last year but only a fizz this year, dropped down into easier company.

No closer than eight lengths against his old class in two previous starts, Dusty George made it this time—but only just against LaViscaina, who got George Miller as her rider and a track she seemed to like. Again, many doubted that former class might tell and Dusty George paid a neat, for him in this kind of company, $9.10.

GOOD PRICES

In between the first and last races, betting favorites just couldn't make it as Winmar, an 11-2 overlay, Macbane, Green Again, Davendel and Kay's Image proved the best on a drying track. It was the second win in a row for Davendel but the grey mare went off at almost 4-1. Winmar, Macbane and Green Again all placed in their last starts while Kay's Image, while third, was beaten only a neck her last time out.

Toronto Has Chance For Patterson Fight

TORONTO (CP) — Tom Bolan, president of Championship Sports Incorporated, arrived here Friday amid speculation that he came to discuss possibilities of switching the Floyd Patterson-Tom McNeeley heavyweight bout from Boston to Toronto.

A new site is being sought because the Massachusetts Boxing Commission refused to approve an out-of-town referee as demanded by Patterson for the fight, originally scheduled for Nov. 13.

There is speculation the fight may be held in Toronto Nov. 20, as part of a double-header with Sonny Liston matched against George Chuvalo.

However, Merv McKenzie, chairman of the Ontario Athletic Commission, said recently that Liston, who has been suspended by the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission, would not be allowed to fight in Ontario.

CASEY STENGEL
. . . 'I'm excited'

Casey's Not Too Old For New York Mets

NEW YORK — Casey Stengel, 71, fired by the Yankees last year because he was "too old," began a brand-new career in big league baseball Friday by agreeing to manage the infant New York Mets of the National League.

"I'm excited," admitted the grizzled Stengel in Glendale, Calif, after deciding to take a one-year contract as pilot of the Mets, who will become one of the two new teams in the National League when the circuit expands to 10 teams next year.

Stengel, who guided the Yankees to 10 American League pennants and seven world championships in 12 years, was fired by the Yankees on Oct. 18, 1960 although he insisted that, at 70, he then was "just as good as I ever was."

So Stengel now returns to the major leagues less than a year later, and returns to the National League where he managed the old Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Braves without winning a pennant.

OLD HOME

He also will return with the Mets to the ancient Polo Grounds, where once upon a long, long time ago a young outfielder named Casey Stengel played for the New York Giants under manager John McGraw and picked up many of the managing theories he used in later years.

"I think perhaps my experience and their desire to get started right was the reason for the choice," said Stengel as he talked to reporters in Glendale from a swivel chair in the bank where he is a vice-president.

Stengel and general manager George Weiss, who also was his old boss on the Yankees, both said that he agreed only last night to join the Mets, and only after long deliberation.

Weiss offered a brisk "no comment" when asked if Casey would get as high a salary as the $80,000 the Yanks were said to have paid him.

"Casey wanted a one-year contract," Weiss said at a news conference. "He told me: 'If I like it and you want me, we will have no difficulties after that'."

Stampeders Nipped, 22-19

Rote Silences Boo-Birds

Tobin Rote, with the boos of 23,000 Toronto fans ringing in his ears, tossed two touchdown passes to Dave Mann in the fourth quarter last night in Toronto to lead the Argonauts to a 22-19 victory over Calgary Stampeders in the Canadian Football League.

For three quarters Rote and his Argos had taken a merciless razzing from the smallest home crowd in two years for their inept performance. But in the fourth quarter, trailing 19-9, the Argos got untracked.

Marty Martinello blocked a kick by Calgary's Eagle Day and Argos recovered on the Stampeder eight-yard line on the first play of the quarter. Three plays later Rote hit Mann in the end zone.

Mann made a spectacular catch for his second touchdown at 9:07, grabbing the ball at the Calgary 23-yard line and outracing two men to score.

Bill Mitchell converted one of the two touchdowns and kicked a 23-yard field goal in the first quarter and a 14-yarder in the second. Mann booted a single and Argos got two points on a safety.

Earl Lunsford, who gained 198 yards on 27 carries, scored both Calgary touchdowns, one after a fumble and the other after an interception. George Hansen converted both and kicked a 33-yard field goal and a single.

Result left Calgary tied with Saskatchewan for third place in the Western Conference. Argos are one point behind second-place Ottawa in the east.

Three games are scheduled today. Edmonton Eskimos play B.C. Lions in Vancouver; Saskatchewan Roughriders travel to Winnipeg, and first-place Hamilton plays the Rough Riders in Ottawa.

The game in Winnipeg will be televised starting at 6.30 p.m. on channels 2 and 6.

Gary Player Top Winner

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—The three front runners in professional golf's race for riches remained the same this week, with only Gary Player forging ahead to any degree.

Player remained on top of the heap with total winnings this season of $63,490. Arnold Palmer, who has remained idle the past few weeks, continued in second place with $57,732.

Doug Sanders, the young pro from California, played out of the top money for the first two tournaments, but is running a strong third with $53,513.

Grass Hockey Club Looks for Repeat

By KEVIN HULL

The University sports program got into gear last Tuesday and swings into full speed today.

The women's grass hockey team expects that it will be able to retain its position as the most successful team of the year. Last year they won the city league, the Evergreen Conference championship and the game against the rugby boys.

Under the direction of Mrs. Maureen Hibberson, coach; Sue Mearns, captain, and Wendy Hawking, manager, the team expects to repeat its performance. In addition, the girls hope to dethrone defending Bridgeman Cup winner, St. Margaret's.

★ ★ ★

Last Tuesday the Outlaws, made up of Victoria district soccer players, defeated the University team, 4-0. Barry Sadler led the attack with a hat-trick. Daryl McIntyre notched the other goal.

The University team plays Victoria Virtues at Royal Roads today at 2.00. Pat Mulcahy of Victoria United is the coach.

BASKETBALL INVENTOR

Dr. James Naismith, a Canadian on the staff of the YMCA training school in Springfield, Mass., invented the game of basketball in 1891.

Rugby begins today with two games. The "A" team plays Oak Bay Wanderers at Gordon Head. The "B" team plays Royal Roads at Royal Roads. Both games start at 2.30 p.m.

Bowling enthusiasts start on Tuesday with ten-pins at Aurora Lanes. Five-pin addicts begin Wednesday at Gibson's. Starting times are 5 p.m.

$22 a Share by End of Year

First Instalment for BCE

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Shareholders of B.C. Power Corporation may expect to receive between $22 and $23 a share before the end of the year, as an initial payment following the expropriation of B.C. Electric by the B.C. government. The government's full payment was based on $38 for each share of B.C. Power.

In a letter to shareholders the new president, A. Bruce Robertson, said that most of the $110,985,045 paid in cash last August to B.C. Power by the B.C. government would be distributed, and that the usual dividend made in mid-October would not be made.

Mr. Robertson added that further payments would depend on the result of the company's application for right to sue the government for higher compensation.

B.C. Power is asking for $225,000,000 against the $110,985,045 already paid by the government and an extra of about $67,000,000 which the government is willing to pay for the company's remaining assets.

VENTURES DELAYED

Delays caused by problems of taxation have delayed the proposed amalgamation of Ventures Ltd. with Falconbridge Nickel Mines Ltd.

A statement by the companies indicates that the meeting of shareholders to consider the merger will not be held until late this year at earliest, and that if approved the merger may not be effective until early 1962.

McIntyre Porcupine, which is to purchase 280,600 shares of Falconbridge under the plan, will pay $62.03 for each of these shares.

New Look in Beer Bottles

OTTAWA (CP) — Orders in excess of $12,000,000 have been placed with three Canadian glass companies as a result of a decision by brewing companies to change the type of bottles in which beer and ale are sold, the Dominion Brewers Association said Friday.

Initial orders are for some 24,000,000 dozen bottles and there will also be orders for packaging materials.

For the present the change in bottle types is being made only in Ontario and Quebec but it is understood a similar change in the rest of Canada is under consideration.

Companies receiving the initial orders include Dominion Glass Co. Ltd.

The new amber-colored bottle will replace the present green bottles used for ale and the present clear-colored bottles used for lager. They will be three inches shorter than the present bottles and a 24-bottle case will weigh five pounds less, though holding the same amount of beer. One of the objects is to save space through shortening of the present long, tapered neck.

Incompatible Chanteuse Blacked Out

NEW YORK (UPI) — A sponsor's refusal to let Rosemary Clooney sing two "torch" songs which television audiences might link to her current marital troubles led to cancellation of her Bell Telephone Hour appearance Friday.

The off-screen clash between Miss Clooney, estranged wife of director-actor Jose Ferrer, and public relations experts of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., came to light at a Federal Communications Commission hearing.

A. T. and T. officials said Miss Clooney had been asked to drop two songs "in the light of (her) marital difficulties," but declined and "asked to be relieved." The songs were "Just Imagine" and "If Love Were All." Dorothy Collins took her place.

Visit 'Small Planet'

By BERT BINNY

Victoria Theatre Guild's "Visit to a Small Planet," which opened at the Langham Court Theatre last night, is quite an entertaining affair.

Much of its success stems from a consistently delightful performance by Norman Tyrrell as Kreton. Gerry Guest as Roger Spelding looked a bit young for the part but he also made a considerable contribution.

SUPERB HANDLING

He missed a big chance in the first act but fully atoned for this by his superb handling of the telecast scene later.

The play, which concerns the arrival of a visitor from outer space, occasionally descends to the level of rather juvenile science-fiction and some of the characters last night, particularly that of the aide (Danny Christian), failed to ring true.

ALL EXCELLENT

But there is a most interesting story line and there is Mr. Tyrrell whose characterization and vocal and technical skill are all excellent. These alone make the show well worth a visit.

There is no reason to believe characters which were vague on opening night will not crystallize as the run progresses.

Directed by Margaret Hall, "Visit to a Small Planet" runs tonight and all next week, every evening at 8.15.

Latin Reds Shock Canadian

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — A University of Saskatchewan law student who spent one month in Chile helping rebuild an earthquake-wrecked town said Friday there is more communism in South America than anybody likes to believe.

Mike Phillips said:

"We were continually harassed by Communist students from the South American countries and Cuba."

The only cement mixer, about 25 years old, refused to operate. Prominent on the machine's rusting flank was a shiny plaque saying, "Made in Canada."

Elected president was Darlene Moyes; vice-presidents, Barry Bowes and Dallas Miller; secretary, Carol Miller, and treasurer, Allan Williams.

Tired Legislative Buildings Coming Apart at the Seams

★ ★ ★

A Few Things That Need Fixing

Gouged, pockmarked plaster moulding in this corridor illustrates some of the disrepair in the legislative buildings. Large-scale renovation will be needed soon.—(Colonist photos.)

Beautiful mosaic-tiled floors are marred by cracks and scars. No effort is being made at repairs.

Sheets of plywood, covering gaping hole left by removal of tiles, have adorned entrance to Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston's office for more than a year.

Bennett May Support Champions of Repair

By PETER BRUTON

The legislative buildings are coming apart at the seams.

Pockmarked walls, scarred floors and temporary repairs which take on the aspect of permanent fixtures abound in many of the stately corridors.

The time is rapidly nearing when large-scale renovation of the buildings will be necessary.

ONE REASON

This is one reason which has sparked demands for the establishment of a legislative committee to supervise all work on the maintenance and possible alterations in the buildings.

Historians, architects and members of the general public have protested the recent decision by Works Minister W. N. Chant to retile floors surrounding the legislative chamber with vinyl tiles—replacing the ceramic tiles laid in 1905.

EXCEPT BASE

There was nothing wrong with the ceramic tiles except the base upon which they were laid.

The ceramic tiles were destroyed.

Mr. Chant said it was decided to lay "kitchen lino" tiles instead of re-ordering ceramic tiles because they were five times cheaper.

Historians and others argue that regardless of cost the legislative buildings must be kept the way they were originally intended.

They appear to be winning Premier Bennett over to this point of view.

Observers believe there is a good chance special legislation will be introduced next session establishing a commission to oversee the maintenance of the buildings.

Most of the well-travelled areas in the buildings are maintained in good order.

But elsewhere decay and destruction abound.

Pensioners Meet Tuesday

Victoria Aged Pensioners Association No. 3 will hold its monthly meeting in the Legion Hall on Blanshard Street at 2 p.m. Tuesday. Members will also be guests at Cedar Hill Golf Club on Fridays.

Traffic Victim 'Serious'

An elderly Saanich man was struck by a light truck at an unlighted intersection on Tillicum last night while walking home from a grocery store.

Arthur D. Hall, 76, of 362 Ker Avenue, was in serious condition in St. Joseph's Hospital at press time with multiple fractures to both legs.

He was struck by a sedan delivery driven by Kenneth Paskin, 557 Hurst, said police.

Mr. Hall apparently was walking toward the oncoming truck on the north side of Tillicum.

There is no sidewalk on that side of the street although there is a narrow gravel shoulder. There was no street light at the Ker-Tillicum intersection.

Mr. Hall, who lives less than a block north of Tillicum, was about six feet from the intersection when he was struck, police said.

Optimism Grows As United Appeal Passes $60,000

The two-week-old United Appeal campaign for Greater Victoria has topped the $60,000 mark in its drive for $320,000, campaign officials announced last night.

Official figures show a total of $60,150 collected to date.

EARLY SURGE

At last night's meeting, campaign workers were "highly optimistic" over the early surge in donations among employee groups.

Last year the special names division was the early front runner in the campaign, but a spokesman said last night the response by employee groups in the current campaign is "something tremendous."

INTO HIGH GEAR

The campaign will go into high gear in October—proclaimed "United Appeal month."

"We are off to a far better organizational start this year," said the spokesman.

The early lead in employee giving was felt soon after Mayor Percy Scurrah read the proclamation that opened the drive Sept. 11.

RALLY PLANNED

Meanwhile, plans are near completion for a mass rally of an army of more than 1,500 volunteer canvassers who will carry out the residential canvass.

The canvassers will be guests at a special show on Sunday, Oct. 15, in the Odeon Theatre.

Heading the residential canvass division is chairman Floyd Fairclough, aided by 164 team captains, each with a platoon of 10 canvassers.

5 P.M. Today Deadline For Voters

New voters seeking the right to vote in the Dec. 14 civic elections have until 5 p.m. today to register with the municipal clerks of four Greater Victoria municipalities. Property-owners go on the list automatically but any tenant or resident-elector whose name was not on last year's list in his municipality will forfeit his vote this year if he fails to meet the deadline.

Woolworth Pickets Soon Back on Beat

Pickets supporting a strike against the F. W. Woolworth store in Port Alberni will resume their patrol in front of the company's Victoria store within a few days.

The decision was reached as the result of a ruling handed down yesterday by Chief Justice Sherwood Lett in Vancouver, who said the Retail Food and Drug Clerk's Union could resume the picketing halted by an injunction if printing on the pickets' signs is changed slightly.

SMALL TYPE

The judge ruled that the public was misled by the signs because the large words "On Strike" were followed with qualifying information — in small type—indicating that only the Port Alberni store was strikebound.

Union international representative John Nichol said last night the signs would be changed to comply with the court order and picketing would resume here shortly.

In Port Alberni, meanwhile, the pickets are expected to return to their posts with the new signs early this morning.

Mr. Nichol expressed agreement with the court's ruling. "The signs were printed in haste and, if they were misleading, they were inadvertently so. We have ordered them changed at once."

POLICE PRAISED

Mr. Nichol lauded the "careful attention to proper procedure" shown by Victoria police in their dealings with the pickets.

They did their work correctly and thoroughly, he said.

For This Year

Full Local Tax Bills Met by B.C. Electric

Greater Victoria municipalities will get their taxes from the crown-owned B.C. Electric for this year at least, it was disclosed here yesterday.

The utility yesterday paid its city taxes in full. The BCE cheque for $140,000 represents taxes on its property, buildings, gas mains, power poles and power lines in Victoria.

The payment is equivalent to about 1½ mills of the city's total tax levy.

The company also paid its $12,700 tax bill in Oak Bay and $11,500 bill in Esquimalt. Still outstanding, however, is more than $43,000 in BCE taxes in Saanich. A four per cent penalty is levied by Saanich on all taxes unpaid after Aug. 17.

A BCE statement issued yesterday said all municipal taxes, including the Saanich 1961 levy, would be paid this year, but the question would be studied again next year.

Building Work Still Way Down

A five-year low in construction starts, reached in August this year, remained unchanged for the second successive month, city planners said yesterday.

There is evidence, however, that the doldrums have been passed.

CONSIDERABLY LESS

September chalked up only 562 permits valued at $421,-722 with the annual total running 30 per cent below 1960 figures.

Only major permit for September covered a $90,000 dental building at 1121 Yates Street. Nine single-family dwellings with a value of $118,-080 were started during the month.

HEALTH MISSING

The decline in construction within the central business district continues, the planners said, while even the usually healthy alteration and repairs total was off by $55,000 for the month.

January-September cumulative totals for the past five years indicate 1961 has lagged by a considerable margin with a total of $5,271,917. Last year's figures was $7,407,604 and the 1957 total for the same period was $5,679,447.

Grilse Among Foes In Vast Navy Test

Two squadrons of Esquimalt-based warships will be among "friendly forces" defending the west coast of North America from mock submarine attacks during the next two weeks.

Among the attackers in the giant Canada-U.S. fleet anti-submarine exercise "Sea Shell" scheduled to begin Monday is the RCN Pacific Command submarine HMCS Grilse.

The international fleet exercise will involve more than 10,000 men in 150 ships, submarines and aircraft, from California to Alaska.

Rear Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, Maritime Commander Pacific, will be in charge of forces in the Canadian sector.

Air support will be provided by 407 Maritime Patrol Squadron based at Comox RCAF station and U.S. Navy anti-submarine patrol squadrons in California, Washington and Alaska.

Defending B.C. coastal waters against the attacking submarines will be units of the Second and Fourth Canadian Escort Squadrons commanded respectively by Capt. Victor Browne and Capt. E. T. G. Madgwick.

As part of another readiness exercise, the crews of the destroyer Margaree and frigates Sussexvale and Beacon Hill were recalled from shore leave early Friday.

Varsity Students Pick New Leader

New president of the Victoria student council is arts and science undergraduate Brian R. Little, 1535 York Place, Oak Bay.

He was formerly director of clubs and became acting president after the recent resignation of Karl Wylie.

Campaign speeches were given in the auditorium Thursday and voting was held yesterday afternoon.

Election of the new vice-president and president of the Men's Undergraduate Society will be held next week.

School Trips Stalled By Drivers' Dilemma

★ ★ ★

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

★ ★ ★

SAFETY FIRST: Quite a number of local elementary school teachers are in a stew over the possibility of getting involved in a traffic accident while driving pupils to inter-school sports events.

Apparently there is some confusion over whether teachers are legally responsible for any injuries their pupils may receive while travelling in their automobiles.

Some reports have it that teachers are refusing to carry pupils in their cars until the matter is clarified, and there is a danger some sports events may be cancelled.

School board officials admit they have heard "rumors" to this effect but say there is nothing definite.

And one school board spokesman said:

"If anyone has the feeling they might get into an accident they shouldn't transport anybody, pupils or aduks. They should have adequate insurance coverage anyway. And to be sued for an automobile accident it must be proved the driver was grossly negligent, which means he was drunk or something. Our teachers wouldn't be that . . ."

★ ★ ★

SIGN IN PASSING: There's a sign in the parking lot out at Sandown race track which reads: "No Shooting."

A warning, no doubt, to discourage those punters who have had a bad day!

★ ★ ★

HOT SPOT: Last July 16 a bolt of lightning hit the B.C. Forest Service's Greenstone Lookout, 16 miles southwest from Kamloops.

Lookoutman George Irving was half scared to death.

Yesterday the provincial cabinet decided to ease some of Mr. Irving's suffering, agreed to pay him $50.50 for compensation for the loss of his perishable groceries and personal radio.

BRIEFLY NOTED: A slight wavering can be detected in the attitude of certain senior officials who favored the laying of lino tiles in the legislative corridors. The word is there may now be "a second look." . . . Ely Allen's Club 1206 on Wharf begins its new winter season this weekend and Ray promises quite a line-up of top entertainment will be featured. . . . Overheard at this week's hockey game between Montreal Canadiens and Spokane Comets: "That ice surface is almost as shiny as those tiles in the legislature!" . . . For at least a year and a half now reporters have been quoting government officials as saying that the old courthouse on Bastion Square will become the new headquarters for the recreation and conservation department once the new courthouse is completed. Now they say it still isn't "firm" policy.

ONE MAN'S VIEW: Visiting South African vintner Andre J. DuToit is an ardent rugby fan, which is not unnatural considering South Africa's world supremacy at the game.

During his present Canadian tour he took in the Canadian football game between Toronto and Ottawa the other day.

His comment: "Frankly, I was not impressed."

LETS ALL GET BEHIND OUR UNITED APPEAL!

Fashion Questions, Answers

Wraps this fall vary from capes to ruglets. Our first question is on this subject.

Q. What is a ruglet?

A. A ruglet is a reversible wrap shaped much like a poncho and made of fur. It is oblong, square, oval or circle shaped with an opening in the centre for the head. It may be brief or rather large.

Revillon, the Paris high fashion house, featured ruglets in its recent collection stressing the appropriateness for winter wear when the weather is rather mild. Revillon used inexpensive but attractive furs. For instance, one oval ruglet reversed from a white Mongolian lamb side to lemon yellow squirrel fur. It topped a brown wool suit. Another ruglet in a square shape was styled of scarlet shaggy dekinked lamb which reversed to smooth black lapin. It covered a black suit with scarlet piping, lining and overblouse.

Q. What does button-length mean in describing gloves?

A. When we wish to designate how far a glove should extend beyond the wrist we refer to 4-button-length, 8-button length and on up. Originally, French gloves were fastened with buttons placed an inch apart. Today, whether a glove has buttons or not, we refer to the number of inches it measures from the base of the thumb to the top-edge. Starting with the briefest glove which stops short at the wrist, glove lengths continue on from 2-button to 20-button.

Glove lengths have come in for much discussion lately since it is fashionable for gloves to meet sleeve lengths. A bracelet length sleeve on a coat, meaning the sleeve ends below the elbow, may require either an 8-button or 10-button glove. An elbow length sleeve will take a 12-button glove to meet the sleeve.

"Opera gloves" for formal wear extend above the elbow and are 16-button. The most formal gloves of all are 20-button extending well up on the upper arm, almost to the shoulder.

Serve delicious pumpkin ribbon pie for Thanksgiving. It's frozen and can be made as long as a month before the big day. The crumb crust is made of bite-size shredded rice biscuits flavored with brown sugar and ginger.

October 9

Thanksgiving's Coming, And So Is Pumpkin Pie

Relax, ladies. Now there need be no more tight oven schedules on Thanksgiving Day. You won't have to worry about getting the pumpkin pie in and out of the oven in time to cook the turkey. Pumpkin Ribbon Pie, a delicious spicy ice cream and pumpkin combination, can be made the day or even a month ahead and frozen.

This is an unusual pumpkin pie—the crust has just a hint of ginger and caramel flavor but isn't very sweet. It's a crumb crust and is made of crushed bite-size shredded rice biscuits. If you're afraid of rolling a pastry crust (you shouldn't be, it isn't hard), try this crumb crust. It's as quick and easy as it is tasty. Make the crumbs in the blender or mortar and pestle them in a 4-cup measuring cup with a glass tumbler. Be careful that you don't form the top of the crust on the rim of the pie plate or it will be hard to get out of the pan without breaking the crust.

The filling is made of vanilla ice cream and pumpkin. It's a nice combination, the traditional pumpkin flavor and refreshing ice cream that is so good after a heavy meal.

Won't it be nice to get up on Thanksgiving morning and know that dessert will be ready any time that you want it? By the way, you'll have to buy a 16-ounce can of pumpkin and will have one cup left over, so why don't you just make two pies at the same time and freeze them. It will be very convenient to have one in the freezer during the busy days to come.

PUMPKIN RIBBON PIE

Crumb Crust

Four and a half cups bite-size shredded rice biscuits crushed to 1⅛ cups, ¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed, ¾ teaspoon ginger, ⅓ cup butter or margarine, melted.

Heat oven to slow (300°). Butter a 10-inch pie plate. Combine cereal crumbs, sugar and ginger. Pour butter over crumbs. Mix thoroughly. Evenly and firmly pack onto bottom and sides of pie plate, not on rim. Bake 10 minutes. Cool thoroughly.

Filling

One cup canned pumpkin, 1½ cups sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup heavy cream, whipped, 1 pint vanilla ice cream, slightly softened.

Combine pumpkin, sugar, spices, salt and vanilla. Fold in whipped cream. Spread ice cream in bottom of cooled pie shell. Spoon on pumpkin filling. Cover and freeze 6 hours or overnight. Yield: 1 10-inch pie.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a woman, 28, who needs help with the biggest decision of my life. My son Dennis is four years old. He means the world to me. His father is in prison for a serious crime. We are divorced.

Several months ago I started to go with a fine man. Last week he asked me to marry him. I was thrilled—until he said I'd have to give Dennis to my mother. He claims the boy may have inherited some of his father's criminal tendencies and he doesn't want to be responsible for him.

At first I couldn't bear the thought of giving up my son but Mama says a woman with my background may never get another chance for happiness. She's willing to take Dennis, and she says when I have more children my heartache will disappear.

Can you point the way out? —STIGMATIZED.

Dear Friend: You'd never forgive yourself if you gave up your son. And you'd always hold it against the man you married.

Explain to your fiance that criminals are made, not born. Mental limitations can be inherited and the crippling effects of such limitations sometimes produce criminal behavior, but the vast majority of criminals are products of their upbringing and environment.

Tell your friend if he wants to marry you he'll have to accept Dennis.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed a letter which involved a rather sordid family fight. The name of the wife who wrote was Ruth and the husband was Bill. Well, it so happens that my name is Ruth and my husband's name is Bill. A few of the details sounded as if the letter could have been from me—but it wasn't.

Our friends almost died laughing. The phone rang for three days straight. People stopped me on the street to talk about it. My sister wanted to know why I was so stupid as to sign our right names.

I think it is unfair of you to use real names. You should change them to protect the innocent as well as the guilty. And please print this. Thank you.—MAD AT YOU.

Dear Mad: I did change the names—to Ruth and Bill.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Noble, 3361 Woodburn Avenue, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Bonita Teresa, to Mr. Gordon Stanley Howard, of Victoria, son of Mr. Eric S. Howard, New Westminster, and Mrs. A. E. Powell, Vancouver. The wedding will take place Saturday, Oct. 28, at 7.30 p.m. in St. Aidan's Church. — (Chevrons Studio photo.)

Up-Island Wedding Of Interest Here

ALBERNI—White dahlias and pink cosmos at the altar and chancel steps provided a lovely background for the wedding party when Miss Shirley Winifred Jones became the bride of Mr. David Osborne in St. Alban's Anglican Church recently.

Rev. John Frith conducted the service for the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Jones, Alberni, and the son of Mrs. Margaret Osborne, Port Alberni, and of W. G. Osborne, Vancouver.

The bride was beautifully gowned in shimmering silk brocade fashioned on princess lines with basque bodice, lily-point sleeves and V-neckline. A large bridal rose trimmed the back waistline above the full hooped skirt and flowing cathedral train. Her silk illusion veil was held by a rhinestone tiara and she wore a cultured pearl and diamond pendant, the gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses and stephanotis with ivy.

Maid of honor, the bride's sister Miss Wendy Jones, and senior attendants, Misses Marilynn Lamport, Marilyn Green and Beth Chilcott, were gowned alike in peau de soie in a deep shade of turquoise. Their headpieces were of matching velvet bows with rhinestone centres. They carried cascade bouquets of pink spray chrysanthemums.

Junior bridesmaid, the groom's sister, Miss Diane Osborne, wore a similarly styled dress of a lighter shade of turquoise and carried a smaller cascade bouquet.

Flowergirl, six - year - old Trudy Beardmore, wore a full skirted white, sprigged organdy frock. Her turquoise cummerbund and velvet bow headpiece matched the junior bridesmaid's. Her bouquet was of colonial design.

Mr. Gordon Blake was best man. Ushers were Mr. Jim Omand, Mr. Gordon Campbell and Mr. Colin McPherson.

At the reception which followed at the Golf and Country Club, a three-tier wedding cake topped with pink sweetheart roses centred the bride's damask-covered table. Four tall white candles in silver holders surrounded the cake. Toast to the bride was proposed by Ed Brentnall.

Leaving on the honeymoon, the bride wore a boucle suit of French blue with black feathered hat and a corsage of pale yellow rosebuds.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Rainsford, Ann and Sandra; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hardy, Marjorie Gillies, Merilee Green, Marilyn Armstrong, Diane Maedel, Roberta Bonaguro, Kathleen Harmer, Maxine Mackenzie, Donald Fisher, Charles Torhjelm and Terry Logan, Victoria; Kit Davison and Stan Volmers, Nanaimo.

Milliner Says:

Don't Make Mistakes When Buying Fall Hat

A high, square look in hats that are "much more hat" is the prediction for spring from milliner Leslie James, who is presenting his fall collection.

"Everything is leaning to the very, very large, uplifted effect—like a Breton, only more abrupt," says the designer, who is noted for his ageless, timeless creations.

"Spring hats will be either very heavily trimmed or completely naked," says James.

The heavily trimmed variety will include several flower-covered creations he describes as "huge bouquets."

Most of his hats are designed to be worn about one-half inch off the hairline, which he terms "the most becoming for the woman past 30." He is opposed to hats that sit on the brow "unless a woman is very young and very beautiful."

The pillbox in its many variations, the First Lady's favorite, has accounted for about 75 per cent of his fall sales, says James. In its larger more important versions it will be a big part of his spring collection.

James, now in his 27th year as a milliner, feels women make three big mistakes when selecting chapeaux. They are:

1. Bringing in a strange color costume to be matched. He advises, "Either don't try to match it or pick a silhouette and send it to the dress manufacturer to be matched."

2. Buying hats without standing up to get the full view and insure balance.

3. Trying to save a little money by buying a cheap hat that does nothing for them. Says James, "they spend the money on a hairdo. If they get a stunning hat, they don't need the hairdo."

In his Los Angeles factory, where 125 persons are employed, 10 of them worked on nothing for fall but the fur hats. The furs have been big sellers, even though none retails for less than $200.

Within his fall collection, which ranges from $29.95 to $500, the high price honors go to a high-crowned creation in Somali leopard.

Although New York is still the nation's No. 1 hat city and 50 per cent of the Leslie James line is sold there, his second biggest outlet is Beverly Hills. "They love their hats for luncheons and teas," he explains.

For spring the designer predicts a color trend to "blues and more blues. I have a feeling we're also going to the taupey coffee tones very strong."

Observes United Church Observer:

'Unrealistic' to Seek Defence Cuts

TORONTO (CP) — The United Church Observer criticizes as "unrealistic" the attitude of members who urge the government to cut military spending, turn down nuclear weapons and rely on the United Nations to keep the peace.

The Oct. 1 issue of the twice-monthly journal, published Friday, suggests Canadians would be shirking responsibility by supporting "the proposal for Canada to disarm unilaterally, or refuse to accept modern weapons" in favor of a strengthened UN police force.

NEGLECT RESPONSIBILITIES

"It's a serious thing for a churchman to counsel a government to neglect its responsibilities for defending its own people . . . in order to support a non-existent or impotent UN force," the Observer editorial says.

It notes that "a number of church committees have proposed that the Canadian government should cut its expenditures on national defence and pin its hopes on a UN police force."

INCONSISTENT LINE

The editorial says "Neo-pacifists supporting such a line seem inconsistent" because "those who deplore reliance on might can argue to make the UN a military power."

Christians have not agreed on how to achieve peace, the Observer says. "Support for a great UN police force suggests pleasant and perhaps questionable dreams for the future, but not wide-awake thinking for the present," the editorial concludes.

NUCLEAR BLACKMAIL

The October issue of the Presbyterian Record editorially accuses Russia of "nuclear blackmail" in resuming tests of nuclear weapons.

But it adds that "no nation or individual in the free world will succumb to the threat of force, even when it hints at exploding a 100-megaton bomb."

Keenly interested, assistant executive commissioner Pet Horan from Boy Scout Headquarters, Ottawa, watches Scout Gregory, 12, at Queen Alexandra Solarium, tie highwayman's hitch. Mr. Horan's work is programming, particularly with handicapped. Good work of Boy Scouts is helped in Victoria by United Appeal.—(Colonist photo.)

New members will be received at the 11 a.m. service Sunday at First United Church, when the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will also be administered.

* * *

General chairman is Rev. H. Gordon Walker, with R. L. Davidson as registrar, Jack Lort chairman of discussion leaders and Mrs. H. G. Walker librarian.

* * *

Two guest speakers will occupy the pulpit at St. John's Church Sunday.

Preacher at 11 a.m. will be Rev. Canon C. H. Butler, recently appointed canon lecturer of the diocese, and at 7.30 p.m. will be Rev. Eric Lowe of the Bible and Medical Missionary Fellowship, Lahore, India.

Bishops Urge World Unity Of Christians

DETROIT (UPI)—The 60th national convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church ended Friday with the House of Bishops calling for global Christian unity.

The Bishops stressed their call was made with the "recognition we are far from knowing or agreeing upon just what that unity would be."

HISTORIC CHURCH

The cathedral at Gyor in northwest Hungary was founded in the 12th century and rebuilt in the 17th century.

The first psychological journal, "Mind," was founded in Britain in 1876 by Alexander Bain, noted Scottish philosopher.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

"Now abideth faith, hope, and love, but the greatest of these is love." Do they abide? They are so fragile. Masaryk is thrown from a window in Prague and his broken body lies on the city pavement. Hammarskjold's plane is blasted from the sky and his shattered body falls into the African jungle.

Encircled Berlin—a free city in the midst of a conquered, terrified Europe — faces the extermination threat of Khrushchev's bullying nuclear bombs. Our desperate hopes for peace and justice are blanketed by dreadful night.

"Blessed are the meek . . . the merciful . . . the poor." What mockery! "Blessed are the strong, the well-armed, the brutal," roars back the dictator, "for they shall inherit the earth."

Did not Rome and Kublai too succeed just insofar as they embodied great ideals of justice and law and fail when and where these were lost? Our world is heaped high on the shores of history with proof that only the co-operative survive.

Boundaries Shatter

The problems are mountainous high and hard. Temptation to be cynical and callous is overwhelming. But little by little grows the family of mankind. Boundaries break down, federations increase. The world has come a long way in the last thousand years. Hope is truer than despair.

As Titus battered Jerusalem into a shambles and slaughtered its starved, diseased defenders, John caught the vision of a New Jerusalem. With the vandal hordes hammering down the gates of Rome, Augustine wrote of the indestructible city of God. Italy was falling into anarchy and civil war, England and France were about to plunge into the chaos of the Hundred Years' War, the Mongols were spreading throughout Asia and the Ottoman Turks were preparing for their gigantic thrust into the heart of Europe, when Dante described a world-wide state under a monarchy of peace and justice.

Mad Career of War

As Napoleon began a mad career of war and conquest, Immanuel Kant wrote what has been called "a classic of international government"—"Perpetual Peace." The world's first international assemblies planning for world peace, the Hague Conventions, were followed immediately by the World War of 1914.

The magnificent League of Nations saw two of its members, China and Japan, at one another's throats, then Italy invaded Ethiopia and the Second World War turned out the lights of Europe.

Yet from the league grew the United Nations, humanity's most determined and dynamic international organization ever known, with an incredible record of co-operation and compassion. A world community is coming into existence, a much more important creation than a world government.

Rooftop Scripture Unwanted Ad in Spa

BATH, England (AP)—"Prepare to meet thy God," says a 60-year-old sign in six-foot letters on the roof of the local Baptist Church.

Town planners of elegant spa have ordered it to be taken down. They said it was advertising.

But the minister, Rev. W. H. Parsons, said the church plans erecting more such messages on the roof.

Global Missionary Convention Speaker

Rev. Gene Martin, for 20 years a missionary for the Pentecostal Assemblies, will be principal speaker at a missionary evangelistic convention from Sunday Oct. 8 at Glad Tidings Tabernacle, 842 North Park.

Mr. Martin has just returned from the primitive regions of Costa Rica where he has been building mission churches.

During his ministry he has visited about 80 countries and his talks will be illustrated with some of the 10,000 feet of movies he has taken in his travels.

With him will be Rev. Clare Scratch, missionary promotional secretary, who spent 19 years in the field in China and India; Rev. Bernard Hunter, now on furlough from Africa, and Rev. James Skinner, chairman of the Pentecostal Assemblies in Southern Rhodesia and South Africa.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

Perhaps only one bridge player in a hundred has the technical skill to execute a squeeze with confidence. Only one in a thousand is sufficiently skillful to prevent himself being squeezed, and one in ten thousand is far-sighted enough to prevent his partner being squeezed. On today's deal East missed a chance to be one in ten thousand.

Vul: Both

♡ J 8 7
◊ J 9 2

♣ J 7 6

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♣	Pass	Pass	2 ♡
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♡
Pass	4 ♡	All Pass

Opening lead ♣ K

Once South has shown a strong hand and a strong heart suit by jumping to two hearts, North's bid of two spades is pointless. He should simply raise to three hearts, as it is impossible for spades to be a better contract than hearts. As it went, North was obliged to go on to four hearts, for at that point he had not given any indication of a heart fit.

West played three top clubs, having noted East's echo, the third round was ruffed on the board with the heart jack, and overruffed with East's queen. Now East has to make a vital play, and the reason behind it becomes clear only when you see what took place.

At the table East returned the diamond five. South won this, feeling that East would not lead away from the diamond queen. Trumps were drawn, the remaining top diamond cashed, and all the trumps led out. At the eleventh trick West had to surrender, being unable to guard both spades and diamonds.

A far-sighted East would return the spade deuce. This play may look dangerous, but it cannot in fact do any harm. As the cards lie it defeats the contract by removing dummy's entry, and it would be equally necessary if the diamond six and the spade four were interchanged.

Garden Notes

Surefire Shrubbery

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

No garden can be considered properly dressed without its quota of shrubs. Annual flowers are all very well, making a grand splash of color for very little money. A perennial flower border, well planned and put together, is a work of art, but for stability and an air of permanence, shrubs are necessary. Besides, they require less work on the part of the home owner than any other form of planting.

It isn't easy for the novice gardener to pick his shrubs, for there is such a bewildering selection available and there is nothing in the nursery catalogue nor on the plant label to indicate whether the shrub is an easy doer or a miffy, difficult subject. Some shrubs just won't grow unless given a very special type of soil and feeding; others need pruning at exactly the right time and in the right way.

Seems to me the sensible thing to do is to make a start with the easy-going, surefire kinds which will put up a good show under a very wide range of soils and conditions. Later, as your thumbs develop a greenish hue, you can take a fling at the fussier aristocrats of shrubdom.

I think my first choice of an easy shrub for a new garden would be forsythia, for it is next to impossible to keep this handsome plant from growing and producing its golden yellow bells. If your nurseryman stocks a forsythia called Lynwood Gold, grab it quickly, for it has a more upright habit of growth and bigger blossoms than the regular forsythia intermedia spectabile. It does well in almost any kind of soil barring a swamp and the only pruning needed is to thin out some of the older branches every year and to nip off the tips of overly vigorous shoots which run up through the centre of the plant.

★ ★ ★

Another surefire shrub is the Mock Orange or Philadelphus, so called because its blooms have the same sweet fragrance as orange blossoms. Belle Etoile is the most fragrant of the lot, with a purple blotch on each white petal. Virginal has double flowers, like tiny white roses. Grandiflora has the largest blossoms but has no scent. The only pruning needed is the removal of some of the older wood just after the flowers fade to make room for new growth.

A grand and colorful shrub and an easy doer is Weigela Bristol Ruby, carrying masses of ruby red blossoms in June and handsome even when out of flower by reason of its glossy dark green foliage.

Weigela can get along quite well without any pruning at all, developing a pleasing shape of its own accord, but it sometimes possible to get a second display of bloom if the flowering shoots are cut back hard as the first blossoms fade.

I couldn't honesty say that viburnum burkwoodii is the most attractive member of its tribe—I think that honor would have to go to virburnum carlcephalum—but for general tolerance of varying condition and soils and the regularity with which it produces its waxy, pinky-white blossoms in March and April, we must give burkwoodii full marks. It has an open, rather spreading habit of growth, doing well either in full sun or partial shade, and is what might be called a semi-evergreen, retaining its leaves in mild winters, dropping them in severe frost but donning a new suit of foliage immediately after.

Regular pruning of virburnum burkwoodii is neither necessary nor desirable, except perhaps to take out an occasional shoot which threatens to spoil the shape of the plant.

Pallbearers for the Divine

"The big theological thing now going in intellectual circles is the celebration of the demise of God."

That's the lead sentence on a book review in "The Nation" and it's a dilly. In fact, any way you look at it, it's an extraordinary sentence. Demise of God? What's a story like that doing on page 209? Why not page 1?

And dig that style, man. "The big theological thing now going in intellectual circles." Whee! The book review was written by Julian N. Hartt, professor of philosophical theology in Yale Divinity School and chairman of the department of religion at Yale University. Man, they didn't talk like that at the divinity school when I was at Yale.

★ ★ ★

So God is finished? Have they told Paramount? They may be able to get along without God in the churches but they're going to have a devil of a time managing in Hollywood where God has been big box office for years. And MGM just about to release "King of Kings"!

Mr. Hartt is reviewing three books at once—"The Death of God" by Gabriel Vahanian, "The Future of Unbelief" by Gerhard Szczesny, and "The Newtime Religion" by Claire Cox, and after that breathtaking opening sentence, he goes on to state: "Many deep thinkers are convinced that the Christian faith, though not yet the Christian church, is out of business."

Mr. Vahanian gets more notice than the others. "He seeks to show how other forms of religiousness, other gods have arisen; and notably the exaltation of man himself to the position once enjoyed by Christ alone—"

Here Mr. Hartt takes a strong stand: "He does not know how many people still believe in God, nor does anybody else know. Then what evidence is available in support of the cry that God is dead?" Whatever it is, says Hartt, it isn't enough. While conceding that the "spokesmen of religious emptiness" contain many more prize-winners than those of piety, he's still among the last-named.

I'm surprised Mr. Hartt got through his essay without reference to Sir Julian Huxley, one of the more distinguished refuters of God around. Huxley has a new book out called "The Humanist Frame," in which he postulates an evolutionary religion to help us get along in a Godless universe.

★ ★ ★

If I understand Huxley correctly, and I think I do, he thinks the human race has simply outgrown God as a child outgrows a belief in Santa Claus and it's time for him to progress to other, more mature religions.

"Evolutionary man can no longer take refuge from his loneliness by creeping for shelter into the arms of a divinized father-figure whom he has himself created nor escape from the responsibility of making decisions by sheltering under the umbrella of Divine Authority, nor absolve himself from the hard task of meeting his present problems and planning his future by relying on the will of an omniscient but unfortunately inscrutable Providence."

Leslie Crosses Tracks

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Leslie Caron, who would rather be dramatic than sing or dance in her movies, has a role in "The L-Shaped Room" that pleases her. She plays an unwed mother on the wrong side of the tracks.

★ ★ ★

Paul Newman is receiving $350,000, plus 10 per cent of the profits, from the movie version of "Sweet Bird of Youth." Which is why he was able to pay Warners the $500,000 they demanded for his contract release.

★ ★ ★

Kirk Douglas insists he is 41, not 43 as all his biographical material has it. "When I was very young, I told producers I was three years older, and now I'm stuck with it," says Kirk. And here I thought that only women had this problem.

★ ★ ★

Nudity is the fashion. But I never thought it would happen to Doris Day and Rock Hudson. They have a scene in the ocean, at night of course, in "Lover Come Back," in which they leave their swim suits on the sand. I wonder if Hedy Lamarr laughs now when she recalls that nude scene in "Ecstasy." It caused a shock at the time.

★ ★ ★

But there's some trouble with Juliet Prowse, now playing "Irma La Douce" in Vegas. She banged her knee doing a split. And she has been in great pain. Singers usually get laryngitis in Las Vegas—going from the air-cooled rooms to the heat outside. They call it a "Vegas throat." This is the first Vegas knee.

★ ★ ★

Shirley Maclaine worked harder last week for no money whatever, helping husband Steve Parker get his "Philippine Festival" on the road at Las Vegas. I've heard rumors of trouble in this marriage but, from where I sit, it doesn't look like they can be true.

★ ★ ★

Glenn Ford and Hope Lange were a luncheon twosome at the Beverly Brown Derby recently. Glenn dates other girls, but I believe he will marry Hope . . . R. J. Wagner has been learning about life in London from Linda Christian. He can't get a more experienced teacher. R. J. is living it up in the Peter Glenville house, complete with butler and footman.

I see where the plumper Simone Signoret decided it would be smart to accompany husband Yves Montand on his current personal appearance tour. When Yves was last in Hollywood, he lost a fortune playing gin rummy with experts Kirk Douglas, Curt Frings and Jimmy Woolf.

'It Was All My Wife's Idea'

* * * * * *

Thatch Home, Art Riches Will Become Museum

The Thatch, familiar pre-Tudor-style house at Royal Oak, and all its art treasures will become property of the University of British Columbia following the death of present occupant John Maltwood.

Mr. Maltwood, now 95, made this known yesterday.

"It was all carefully planned before her death by my wife," he explained.

Katharine Maltwood, who died two months ago, made provision for disposition of the picturesque house in her will. Until Mr. Maltwood's death the house will continue as a private residence. Thereafter it will become the Maltwood Art Museum, with a curator in charge.

The house is filled with treasures from the fields of art—sculptures by Mrs. Maltwood, most of which have been shown in the Royal Academy and other famous galleries, paintings and rare works from China in a setting of furniture which itself is authentic period work and was brought out from England.

Built in 1939 in the style of a 14th-century Hall House, The Thatch was first known as Royal Oak Inn.

"It was all my wife's doing," Mr. Maltwood emphasized.

"We came here in 1938, intending to build a similar structure that would eventually become an art museum. When this house went on the market, my wife grabbed it. It couldn't be better for her purposes."

Referring to the building grounds, the works by his wife, paintings by Emily Carr and Oriental pieces, Mr. Maltwood said:

"These are the beautiful things we acquired during 60 years of happy marriage. It is my fond hope that they will be treasured by posterity."

'Old Home' to Belong to UBC

Owner John Maltwood, 95, stands on porch of The Thatch, well-known old-style home on West Saanich Road in Royal Oak, which he disclosed yesterday will become UBC property and museum on his death. Bequest was contained in will of his late wife.

'Best Birthday'

More birthday presents than she knew what to do with arrived for Mrs. Sophia Devine, 2161 Foul Bay Road, on her 93rd birthday. Five relatives from the United States and six from Canada were reunited for the occasion which Mrs. Devine said was "the best birthday I've ever had."—(Colonist photo.)

Animals Still There —And Still Eating

Nanaimo Zoo operator Dan Detweiler is facing a blood-chilling disposal problem.

His plan to pack bag, baggage, wife and children off to New Zealand has been stymied by the necessity to get rid of a pair of lions, a cougar or two and assorted bear, wolves, coyotes, elk, deer and monkeys.

"Just like anything else," a disgruntled Mr. Detweiler said last night after the fauna had been fed and bedded. "When you want to buy, everything is expensive. When you want to sell, there's no market."

While he admits that the market for maneaters, predators and the lesser apes is never exactly overcrowded with eager shoppers, he does feel that the "livestock" has some cash value.

He has entered negotiations with one prospect now, but says the deal hasn't yet reached the cash-on-the-barrel stage.

Unfortunately for him, the provincial game department has a good deal more interest in Mr. Detweiler's animals than the pet-buying public.

Haled into court on a charge of keeping a private zoo without a licence, Mr. Detweiler offered to donate the whole thing to the city of Nanaimo, but the city hastily declined.

Duncan Zoo proprietor Jim Oyen has apparently offered to buy all the animals but the lions.

However, the lions are the biggest part of the problem since they eat the most, roar the loudest and are the most dangerous.

If and when Mr. Detweiler arrives in New Zealand, his friends can be sure of one thing—he won't be going into the zoo business.

Anti-Bias Law Thrown Out

OLYMPIA (AP)—Washington state's anti-discrimination law in housing has been tossed out by the State Supreme Court as unconstitutional.

The court action originated in Seattle where the state board against discrimination had ordered Coast Guard Cmdr. John J. O'Meara to sell his home for $18,000 to a Negro mail carrier, Robert L. Jones.

Judge James Hodson said "a private individual acting in his private capacity is perfectly free to discriminate as he pleases."

Session Soon?

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker plans to open a new session of Parliament in early December, an informed source said Friday night.

This would rule out any likelihood of a general election this autumn or winter.

Cap Blast Costs Eye

VANCOUVER (CP) — Doctors have removed the right eye of 13-year-old Wayne Boychuck of Salmo, near Nelson, who was injured in a dynamite cap explosion last Saturday.

He also lost two fingers of one hand, and his playmate, Gregory Fisher, lost his right hand.

Hoffmeister Silent About His New Job

Maj.-Gen. B. M. Hoffmeister, recently-retired B.C. agent-general in London, has a new job, but he's not saying what it is.

The former chairman of MacMillan and Bloedel returned to Victoria for meetings with Premier Bennett and Attorney-General Robert Bonner Thursday.

In a brief interview afterward he said he had a new job but "at this time I can't tell you anything about it."

A royal romance, veiled in mystery for 100 years... OVERTURE TO VICTORIA by McKenzie Porter. The true story, never before published, of the romance of Edward, Duke of Kent, (Queen Victoria's father) and the lovely Julie de St. Laurent, who lived with him for 27 years, 10 of them in Canada. McKenzie Porter talked with their descendants in Canada and England before writing this book—a very real contribution to Regency history. $5.50 At your bookseller's. LONGMANS

Sixteen-storey luxury hotel for retired folk, first of its kind in Canada, is planned to overlook Satellite Channel.

$6,000,000 Apartment Hotel Planned for Retired People

Plans for a $6,000,000 high rise seafront apartment hotel midway between Mill Bay and Cowichan Bay for retired people were announced in Victoria yesterday by a Vancouver construction engineer.

Allan C. Smith of Vancouver, whose firm designed the hotel, said construction will start "as soon as possible." He is completing the working drawings.

The 16-storey hotel, called Westward Ho, will be built on 50 acres of waterfront land just south of Cherry Point, facing across Satellite Channel toward Galt Spring Island.

It will be the first of its kind in Canada. Unlike apartment hotels elsewhere in which tenants purchase suites, Westward Ho will offer lifetime leases of from $8,000 to $17,000 to married or single people from 65 years of age up.

Mr. Smith said his firm inspected numerous retirement hotels in the United States during the past 1½ years and is "satisfied Westward Ho will embody the best that any similar project in the U.S. affords and many items that they do not."

Residents will pay about $125 per person each month on a lifetime care program for such services as food, laundry, maid service, room cleaning, a 300-seat auditorium, a library, swimming pool, golf course, hobby shop and rooms for billiards, cards, sewing and TV.

The hotel will have accommodation and dining facilities for 500 persons and a staff of more than 100.

Residents will be free to come and go as they please. They will be in the same age group and a director will help co-ordinate recreational activities.

Two fast elevators in a central tower will carry residents from one floor to another and another shaft will be built in case a third elevator is needed.

THREE WINGS

Design embodies three separate wings, with picture windows and balconies, joined to a central tower containing luxury suites, elevators, lounge, dining facilities, pool, power plant and rooms for games and hobby rooms.

Fifty acres of land with nearly half a mile of shoreline is already owned by the promoters. Private financing is being arranged.

Water will be drawn either from deep wells or piped from Shawnigan Lake, four miles away, said a spokesman.

Rooms and restaurant facilities will also be available to relatives and friends visiting Westward Ho's permanent guests.

Sea Union Hold Broken

OTTAWA (CP)—The hold of the Seafarers International Union on Great Lakes seamen was broken Friday when the labor relations board certified the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers as bargaining agent for the crews of two Canadian ships.

Flames Cost $500

At least $500 damage was done last night to the residence of Jack MacGregor, 1301 Lyall, when fire started in a chesterfield.

Esquimalt firemen, assisted by a truck and crew from the naval fire service, had the blaze contained within minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. MacGregor said they had been away from the house "for about an hour." They were summoned by neighbors.

Production Going Up

VANCOUVER (CP)—Attorney-General Bonner said Friday production from B.C. lumber mills is expected to increase by 36 per cent during the next 15 years.

Mr. Bonner, who is B.C.'s industrial development minister, told the Western Lumber Marketing Association the increase is expected to be felt mainly in the interior of the province where production is expected to reach 4,500,000,000 board feet by 1975.

Much greater attention is needed to use of recoverable waste in the B.C. timber industry, Mr. Bonner said. Establishment of a pulp and paper plant in the Prince George area would do much to improve the competitive position of interior mills, he said.

Murder Bid Trial First for Assizes

Trial of a Saanich juvenile on a charge of attempted murder will open the fall session of B.C. Assize Court at 11 a.m. Monday in the old courthouse.

W. L. McIntyre will be prosecutor for the assizes, which includes a list of six cases.

Presiding judge at the opening is expected to be Mr. Justice T. W. Brown.

BCE Wants to Buy Engineer Branch

The government-owned B.C. Electric is negotiating for the purchase of a former subsidiary company of the BCE, it was learned last night.

BCE chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum confirmed a report that negotiations opened a week ago for the outright purchase of International Power and Engineering Consultants (formerly B.C. Engineering), a subsidiary company which is jointly owned by B.C. Power Corp. and Balfour Beatty Engineering of England.

The president of the company is Thomas Ingledow of Vancouver.

Mr. Ingledow said preliminary negotiations had been under way since the takeover by the government of IPEC's parent company, B.C. Electric.

Dr. Shrum said the government had launched definite negotiations last week for the outright purchase of IPEC, which handles all engineering consultant contracts for BCE, the Peace River Power Development Corp. and several outside contracts.

MP's Barbs Upset Hydro Probe

NAKUSP, B.C. (CP) — Provincial water comptroller A. F. Paget Friday threatened to adjourn public hearings on the proposed Columbia River development and hear testimony in private after a verbal run-in with H. W. Herridge, CCF MP for Kootenay West.

* * *

H. W. HERRIDGE
. . . 'lot of bunk'

Mr. Herridge, describing himself as a property owner in an area which will be flooded out by the proposed High Arrow Dam, described as "a lot of bunk" statements made by Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission.

Dr. Keenleyside told the hearing on the B.C. Power Commission application for a licence to proceed with the $458,000,000 Columbia works, that 65 per cent of the expected power from the Columbia development would be provided by the High Arrow Dam. High Arrow, he said, would provide 80 per cent of the expected flood control benefits and without it the proposed giant Mica Creek Dam could not be built.

LOT OF BUNK

Mr. Herridge said he was "astounded to hear what Dr. Keenleyside has said here today. It's a lot of bunk."

This remark was greeted with applause by a large section of 100 or more attending.

Water comptroller Paget intervened.

"If this is the way you intend to carry on," he told Mr. Herridge, "we will have to adjourn the hearing and listen to the witnesses at private sessions."

'IT'S IMMORAL'

The Kootenay MP said he protested the granting of the water licence to the BCPC on the ground that it was not in the best interests, nationally, provincially or locally.

"In my opinion it is immoral for this generation to permit the destruction of 60 years of public and private investment to provide low-cost power in the U.S. and jobs for United States citizens."

Mr. Herridge contended High Arrow was a "second best development" and said Mica Creek was the key to development.

Truckers Give Early

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario and Quebec trucking companies this week took a stand against the practice of giving Christmas gifts and diverted the money to education instead.

The 54 member companies of the Trucking Industry Foundation celebrated Christmas in September by handing out $44,000 to students instead of buying gifts for their customers.

Ross Not Quitting

Vancouver industrialist Frank M. Ross met with Premier Bennett late yesterday to find out his duties as a director of the Crown-owned B.C. Electric—not to resign from the job.

The former lieutenant-governor said he had had no opportunity until this time to acquaint himself with the duties, powers and scope of the directorship.

"After all, I received the appointment by telephone while I was away on holidays," he said.

NASSER GIVES UP SYRIA BLAMES 'IMPERIALISTS'

* * *

—(AP Photofax)

After hearing word of defeat in Syria, dejected President Nasser and Vice-President Kamal Hussein ponder a way to break news to Cairo masses.

Admits Collapse Of Arab Union

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic collapsed yesterday.

Syria declared its independence from the union with Egypt after a lightning revolution and set up a civilian transitional government to rule until a parliament can be named in free elections.

Nasser halted all military operations against Syria in a tacit admission of defeat.

SOCIALIST REGIME

Revlutionary Premier Mamoun Al-Kuzbari indicated last night in a broadcast that his government would be socialist. Al-Kuzbari said his cabinet would guarantee freedom of the press, election and "other freedoms" during a four-month interim rule and that his government would "implement true socialist policy."

Al-Kuzbari said that the new Syrian republic "once again reafirms that it is the pulsating and impregnable fortress of Arabism."

SWIFT VICTORY

The rebels' victory was so swift and so complete that both Jordan and Turkey immediately recognized the new Syrian government and pledged support. Other Arab nations jealous of Nasser's power were expected to follow suit.

Nasser has dispatched warships, transports and an expeditionary force including 2,000 paratroops Thursday from Egypt. Paratroops already had been dropping on the port of Latakia when Nasser learned of the success of the revolt and called off the invasion.

FORCE CAPTURED

Damascus radio said a force of 200 Egyptian paratroopers at Latakia had been "wiped out" but said later they were captured. Nasser told a rally in Cairo he had ordered 120 paratroopers dropped there to surrender so Arab would not fight Arab.

It was Nasser's greatest crisis since the Israeli and Anglo-French invasion of Suez in 1955 and he reacted bitterly with a speech in which he blamed the forces of imperialism for his defeat.

Shake-Up Likely In Middle East

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Syria's break with Nasser's United Arab Republic was expected to bring a re-alignment of Arab politics that could create new dangers to the stability of the Middle East.

Syria, long a centre of intrigue, was being heavily infiltrated with Communists before it merged with Egypt and Nasser outlawed the Communist party. As a separate country, it again could be subject to such influences.

The Middle East also was expected to see a jockeying for power among Arab nations. Both Jordan, which quickly recognized the new Syrian government, and Iraq have ambitions of becoming the leader of the Arab world. Syria could fall into alignment with these states.

INTERNAL ORIGIN

State department spokesman Joseph Reap said the uprising appeared to be of "internal origin." Other officials said the revolt apparently was not Communist-led although the Reds might try to make capital of it.

Diplomatic observers said Nasser appeared to have "dug himself into a bad hole" by refusing to compromise politically with discontented Syrians who complained that their country was forced to play second fiddle to Egypt in the UAR.

The revolt came at a time when Nasser's relations with Russia appeared to be worsening. A propaganda battle broke out last spring between Moscow and Cairo.

NOT GRATEFUL

Russia has promised to lend the UAR more than $300,000,000 to help finance the Aswan Dam. But recently critical dispatches have appeared in the Soviet press implying that the UAR was not being properly grateful for Russian aid.

Churchill Too Frail To Travel

CHARTWELL, England (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill declined Friday night an invitation to attend the Oct. 14 foundation-laying ceremony at a new Cambridge University college which is to bear his name.

Sir Winston's secretary said it was thought the 100-mile trip to Cambridge might be too much for the 86-year-old statesman, but "there is absolutely no cause for concern."

Three Island Tots Killed in Accidents

* * *

WILLIAM BURNSON

Three Vancouver Island children died in two widely separated accidents yesterday.

A freak accident took the life of a three-year-old Sidney boy when a stove toppled onto him as he played in a woodshed, and a baby boy and his three-year-old sister perished when a home was destroyed by fire near Port Alberni.

RCMP said William Burnson, 2203 Queens, was pronounced dead on ardival at Rastha en Hospital.

HIT BY STOVE

The boy had been playing in a backyard woodshed when the 80-pound stove fell on him.

He was found by his mother, Mrs. Verna Burnson, only minutes after she had refused him a jam sandwich because of a planned early dinner.

Mrs. William Ewen, 10184 Mellissa—the boy's grandmother who lives only 200 yards from the Burnson home—said her daughter came running to the house for her help.

"She was terrified and we phoned the police and ambulance," Mrs. Ewen said.

"After that we both ran to the woodshed, and I felt his pulse—I knew he was dead. It seemed like hours before the ambulance came, but I guess it was only a very few minutes," she added.

A small tricycle was found near the accident scene, indicating the boy may have accidentally tipped the stove while riding through the woodshed.

He is survived by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Burnson; a sister Debbie; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sapsford, and Mr. andMrs. William Ewen.

Police said an inquiry will be held next week.

One-year-old Patrick Joe died when flames completely destroyed the home of his parents on the Polly Point Indian Reserve on the outskirts of Port Alberni. His sister, Adeline, died a few hours afterwards from burns.

LEFT ALONE

The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Joe had been left alone in the house while their parents went to town, police said last night. Two of the four escaped the fire unharmed.

The children's mother told RCMP that a heater had been left burning in the home.

Baptists Accused Of Flirting with Reds

TORONTO (CP)—The Gospel Witness, published by the Baptist Church, has accused the Baptist Federation of Canada with "collaboration with Communists."

The accusation came in the current issue of The Witness, in connection with the visit to Canada by three Russian Baptist ministers.

THREE NAMED

The three are Dr. Jacob Zhidkov, president of the All Union Evangelical Christian Baptist Council in Moscow and vice-president of the World Baptist Alliance; his son, Rev. Michael Zhidkov, and Rev. Ilia Ivanov.

The Gospel Witness says the International Council of Christian Churches protested the presence of Dr. Zhidkov at the World Baptist Alliance when it met last year in Rio de Janeiro.

OPEN ARMS

"In the light of present day activity, when Baptist leaders fall for the Communist line of peaceful co-existence and welcome with open arms these representatives of the Communist regime which is godless and un-Christian, we see further justification for the stand taken and the far-reaching consequences of the effects of unbelief and modernism.

"Now we have these agents present in Canada and sponsored by the Baptist Federation of Canada," The Witness said

A Nation Goes Silent A Wreath Asks Why

UPPSALA, Sweden (AP) — Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general of the United Nations, was buried at his boyhood home Friday with honors heretofore given in Sweden only to royalty.

Regal simplicity marked the last journey of the dedicated diplomat who travelled so many miles in the cause of world peace and the United Nations.

Wrapped in the blue-and-gold flag of his native Sweden, his coffin at the end held but a single wreath. It was that of his king, Gustav VI Adolf.

* * *

As the sun set, an order went out from the government for a nationwide moment of silence. Everything—cars, trains, factories, ships and people—came to a halt.

Men from all over the world paid homage in Uppsala's 700-year-old Lutheran cathedral to the secretary-general who lost his life with 15 others in a plane crash Sept. 18 while flying on a Congo peace mission.

* * *

Among the hundreds of wreaths, one stood out.

Sent by Hammarskjold's brother, Sten, and Sten's daughter, Marlene, it was a wreath of red daffodils and two red roses.

On a ribbon was the single word:
"Why?"

There'll Always Be Motherland!

COL.
M. DOPPING-HEPENSTAL
. . . poppycock!

Six well-known residents of Vancouver Island yesterday rose up in anger to defend the feelings of those with close and affectionate ties with Britain.

The cause of their anger: A statement by Douglas Fisher of Port Arthur, Ont., CCF MP and a delegate to the Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference, that most Canadians no longer look upon England as a mother country but as a tourist attraction.

Mr. Fisher, speaking to the parliamentary conference in London Thursday, said:

"Unlike our Australian and New Zealand friends, we can't accept this whole business of mother country. The days when a Canadian could boast 'A British subject I was born, a British subject I shall die' are past."

"Poppycock!" Col. M. Dopping-Hepenstal, 80, snorted into his telephone.

"Lies," sniffed Lady Constance Drayton from her suite in the Empress Hotel. "Just the yattering of riff-raff."

"Never heard such damned nonsense," bellowed Frank Boucher, 77, president of Victoria's Royal Society of St. George.

When reporters telephoned Col. Dopping-Hepenstal, his housekeeper explained that the colonel was resting and shouldn't be disturbed. But he scurried to the telephone when told what had been said about Canada's attitude to England.

"Can't let this be said unanswered," he said. "It's nothing but poppycock. Never heard of such a ridiculous statement.

"Who is this Fisher? He doesn't know what he is talking about. He should be hauled over the carpet for this."

"It's lies," said Lady Drayton. "My heart, and I am sure the hearts of many, swells with pride when I know I am still connected to England.

"This man said a wicked, wicked thing. It makes me sad, so sad."

Mrs. Bertha Parsons, 74-year-old member of the Kipling Society, said Canadians mustn't lose the "spirit of England."

"My dear old father would rise in his grave if he heard such a stupid statement."

Canadian-born Gen. C. A. P. Murison of Duncan, said he still honors England as his mother country.

"We have to have a mother country. I think we should all be proud and grateful to have England."

Sir Philip Livingstone, former medical director of the Royal Air Force and once an honorary surgeon to King George VI, called Mr. Fisher's remarks "untrue, ill-conceived and disloyal.

"Things like that are often said by disgruntled people getting their own back because of a minor grudge," he said from his home at Qualicum Beach. "It's disgusting."

Another Big Crowd For Detroit Game

Late rush at the ticket windows at Memorial Arena has guaranteed another good crowd for an exhibition hockey game tonight.

Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League take on the Western Hockey League champion Portland Buckaroos at the Arena at 8.30 and there were only 800 tickets left when the wickets opened this morning.

Detroit, which has strengthened its defence this year with the addition of former All-Star Bill Gadsby from New York, last night continued its unbeaten streak in western exhibition games by barely getting past Vancouver Canucks, 2-1, in Vancouver.

Red Wings have played 33 exhibition games in the west without a loss over a period of six years. A 4-4 tie with Edmonton, their top farm team, in Brandon earlier this year, is the only blemish on the record.

Red Wings played last night's game without ace forward Gordie Howe and centre Norm Ullman, both out with injuries.

Jack Adams, Wings' general manager, said Howe would rejoin the club Monday and probably would be in the lineup next Tuesday when it plays Edmonton in Red Deer.

THEY MISSED 'EM

Last night the Red Wings looked as though they missed Howe and Ullman. The Canucks, a club that has been built from scratch this season by Art Chapman and Phil Maloney, outshot the Wings, 32-23, and forced Detroit goalie Hank Bassen, a former Canuck, to make several key saves.

Vic Stasiuk took advantage of a Vancouver defensive lapse to score at 15.57 of the third period to give Red Wings the victory before 4,032 fans.

TIES GAME

A first-period goal by defenceman Marcel Pronovost gave Detroit the lead and the Canucks tied the game late in the second period on a backhand shot by Hugh Barlow. Wings' Howie Young was sitting out a minor penalty when Barlow scored.

There are two more exhibition games billed for Victoria next week. Seattle and San Francisco, both WHL clubs, are scheduled to play Portland in Esquimalt Arena next Wednesday and Saturday nights.

FIRST PERIOD
1. Detroit, Pronovost (Godfrey, Johnson) 1:34.
Penalties: None.
SECOND PERIOD
2. Vancouver, Barlow (Maloney, Defelice) 11:48.
Penalties: Young 1:30, 17:34, Odrowski 18:28.
THIRD PERIOD
3. Detroit, Stasiuk (Johnson, Delvecchio) 15:57.
Penalties: None.

New Crop of Bowlers Earn Good Averages

By JIM TAYLOR

A wave of young bowlers has hit city lanes this year, and some of them are ready right now to shoulder their way into competition on even terms with the adults.

There has always been some sort of junior league operating at most bowling establishments. But in the past two years, as more lanes and tougher competition made it imperative to develop new bowlers, junior development has been on the upswing.

There is no accurate figure as to how many juniors are bowling in Greater Victoria at the moment. But there are hundreds. This year they should really make their presence felt.

BETTER SCORES

As they have done in hockey, curling and baseball, the kids have gone into bowling with a dedication that is shown in the ever-improving scores.

One example of this dedication is 16-year-old Bob Munn, who shows promise of being one of the finest tenpin bowlers ever developed here.

Bob is the son of two-time Vancouver Island champion Ken Munn. Last year he averaged 134 in junior league play. When the league packed up, Bob kept right on bowling.

WORKED ON IT

Through the summer he worked on his game. Now, after three weeks of league play, Bob's average is up to a fine 180 and he can give his dad a game any day of the week. Father's average is 181.

"About the only thing I showed him was to slow his ball down and quit trying to throw it through the back of the alley," explains the senior Munn. "The rest he worked out himself."

Bob Munn is by no means the only promising junior tenpinner. Wally McKay, the top junior last year, is stepping into the adult leagues this year with a 169 average, and others are good enough to give Munn a real fight for top honors.

SAME STORY

The same situation exists in the fivepin leagues, where much of the bowling is done in high school leagues. This year there is a move afoot to have school leagues for young tenpinners.

Last season there were 13 tenpinners in Greater Victoria with averages of 180 or better. With more and more emphasis on the junior leagues, the figure is bound to go up.

Five city fivepin bowlers compete tomorrow at Grandview Recreations in Vancouver in a try for an expense-paid trip to Toronto and a chance to bowl on television.

Each fivepin house in B.C. will have a representative at tomorrow's competition, and the winner will go to Toronto next weekend to tape a fivepin series for a CBC network show.

Representing city lanes after winning 10-game roll-offs are:

Wayne Hendry (Gibson's, 2,694); Bill McKinnon (Loomer Lanes, 2,666); Emil Liska (Esquimalt, 2,597); Cy Wallis (Capital City Lanes, 2,559) and Stan Jones (Strathcona, 2,500).

* * *

How-wrong-can-you-get department:

A couple of weeks ago, commenting on Harry Smith's perfect 450, we said that the first perfect fivepin game had been bowled in 1953 by Doug Romkey, 18 at the time, at Capital City Lanes.

It was at Capital City in 1953 all right, but the boy's name was Roy Morberg, and he was 15.

WE BOW

Included in the same article was a crack about Don Shaw, who sent us the newspaper clippings, as "a tenpinner whose memory is better than porter whose memory obvious his average at the moment."

Mr. Shaw is understandably having the last laugh at a rooky needs as much improving as his average.

* * *

Annual general meeting of the Victoria Fivepin Association will be held tomorrow at 11 a.m. at Capital City Lanes. Officers will be elected for the new season.

All fivepin leagues are asked to send a delegate, and all bowlers are welcome. The meeting, properly supported, could do a lot to make the new season a much better one.

Winning Back Title Big Task for Paret

NEW YORK (AP)—Benny (Kid) Paret held the world welterweight boxing championship, 11 months before losing it to swashbuckling Emile Griffith.

The 24-year-old Cuban gets a return title crack at Griffith in a 15-round fight at Madison Square Garden tonight. (Channel 4 at 6 p.m.)

"I'd sure like to get the title back," said the Cuban fighter through an interpreter. "You don't know what being champion means until you're no longer champion."

The odds are 3-to-1 however, that the muscular, aggressive Kid won't dethrone Griffith.

Griffith, 23-year-old Virgin Islands native now living in New York, has won eight straight fights over strong opponents and has shown improvements — especially in power—with each fight.

Griffith's record is 25-2, including nine knockouts. He never has been stopped.

Paret's record is 33-10-3, including nine knockouts. He has been stopped twice.

Backstrom Paces Habs

SEATTLE (AP) — Centre Ralph Backstrom got a hat trick Friday night as the Montreal Canadiens defeated Seattle 10-2 in an exhibition hockey game.

The National Hockey League team scored six goals in the first period and ran up a 10-0 advantage before Seattle's Western Hockey League entry could break through.

O'Toole, Ford All Ready For Southpaw's Opener

Jim O'Toole and Whitey Ford, the two lefthanders who are scheduled to face each other in the opening game of the world series next Wednesday, got their final pre-series warmups yesterday. And both looked good enough to make their series clash a pitchers' battle.

O'Toole went against the Pittsburgh Pirates, the team dethroned by Cincinnati Reds, and received credit for his 19th win although taken out after five innings.

He gave up four hits and Pittsburgh's run as the Reds won, 8-1. Ken Johnson and Roadblock Jones finished up without allowing a Pittsburgh hit in the last four innings.

Ford was asked to go only six innings, and he was equally as effective. The veteran pitched scoreless baseball, gave up five hits and left with a 1-0 lead. But he missed getting his 26th win because the Red Sox tied it up against Luis Arroryo in the seventh.

Ford's 25-4 record left him with a .862 won-lost percentage, the best in the league since John Allen of Cleveland had a .938 mark with a 15-1 record in 1937. The 25 wins are the most in the AL since Dave Ferriss of the Red Sox won that many in 1946.

The Yankees finally won, 2-1, when catcher Johnny Blanchard, playing in the outfield, singled in a run in the ninth inning. Blanchard also provided the Yankees with their first run, hitting his 21st homer in the fourth inning.

It was, however, another bad day for Roger Maris, now with only two games left in which to get his 61st home run.

With Bill Monbouquette bearing down on every pitch and being careful not to give him anything good, Maris walked twice and popped up twice.

Meanwhile, there were continued indications that Mickey Mantle will be ready for the opening game of the series although he will remain in hospital until late today. He underwent minor surgery on Thursday for an abscess on his hip.

Mantle will not, however, play in the last two league games. He thus wound up the season with 54 home runs, a .317 batting average, 163 hits, 126 bases on balls and 114 strikeouts.

The Reds came up with an injury yesterday when Darrell Johnson, a one-time catcher in the Yankee chain who figured to be Cincinnati's regular in the series, strained a muscle in his left side. It could not be immediately discerned whether or not the injury will keep him out of the series.

Comeback at Sandown—Dos Domingo Wins Again

By JIM TANG

An nine-year-old bay gelding who once ran with the best and only last year was ruled off British Columbia tracks because he wasn't considered sound, finally found his way back to the winners' circle yesterday at Sandown Park.

Dos Domingo is his name, and he hasn't been there since May 20, 1959, when he breezed to victory over Flying Flute and Tropical at Vancouver's Exhibition Park.

Once owned by Dave Diamond, Dos Domingo ran at Sandown in 1958, beaten a half length in a blanket finish by Glo-Reign, Nudger and Sleepy Star in his last start there. Then he was shipped to Tanforan, made two starts at Exhibition Park in 1959 and was ruled off B.C. tracks in 1960.

RECORD CLEAR

Saanich horseman M. R. Griffith eventually became its owner and the veteran gelding was put in charge of trainer Norm Leaver. Application was made for reinstatement this year, and given when a veterinarian certified Dos Domingo was sound.

In three spaced starts this year at Exhibition Park, Dos Domingo showed slow improvement, taking show money the third time out—beaten by Panjandrum and Pro Tick and four lengths out in fairly good time for a track rated good.

LIKE BEFORE

Yesterday, in against a field of non-winners in 1961 and again getting a soft racing strip, Dos Domingo at least showed something like his old self in the stretch as he whizzed by his field to win going away.

The time wasn't much, even on the off track, but those who remembered and took a chance that there was still enough class left to beat what was perhaps Dos Domingo's easiest ever opposition were rewarded with an $8.70 payoff and if they hit on Winmar in the second race, collected $61.80 for the daily double.

DROPS DOWN

A somewhat similar situation existed in the last race, in which Dusty George, a Sandown whiz last year but only a fizz this year, dropped down into easier company.

No closer than eight lengths against his old class in two previous starts, Dusty George made it this time—but only just against LaViscaina, who got George Miller as her rider and a track she seemed to like. Again, many doubted that former class might tell and Dusty George paid a neat, for him in this kind of company, $9.10.

GOOD PRICES

In between the first and last races, betting favorites just couldn't make it as Winmar, an 11-2 overlay, Macbane, Green Again, Davendel and Kay's Image proved the best on a drying track. It was the second win in a row for Davendel but the grey mare went off at almost 4-1. Winmar, Macbane and Green Again all placed in their last starts while Kay's Image, while third, was beaten only a neck her last time out.

Pitted Floors, Scarred Walls

Tired Legislative Buildings Coming Apart at the Seams

A Few Things That Need Fixing

Gouged, pockmarked plaster moulding in this corridor illustrates some of the disrepair in the legislative buildings. Large-scale renovation will be needed soon.—(Colonist photos.)

Beautiful mosaic-tiled floors are marred by cracks and scars. No effort is being made at repairs.

Sheets of plywood, covering gaping hole left by removal of tiles, have adorned entrance to Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston's office for more than a year.

Bennett May Support Champions of Repair

By PETER BRUTON

The legislative buildings are coming apart at the seams.

Pockmarked walls, scarred floors and temporary repairs which take on the aspect of permanent fixtures abound in many of the stately corridors.

The time is rapidly nearing when large-scale renovation of the buildings will be necessary.

ONE REASON

This is one reason which has sparked demands for the establishment of a legislative committee to supervise all work on the maintenance and possible alterations in the buildings.

Historians, architects and members of the general public have protested the recent decision by Works Minister W. N. Chant to retile floors surrounding the legislative chamber with vinyl tiles—replacing the ceramic tiles laid in 1905.

EXCEPT BASE

There was nothing wrong with the ceramic tiles except the base upon which they were laid.

The ceramic tiles were destroyed.

Mr. Chant said it was decided to lay "kitchen lino" tiles instead of re-ordering ceramic tiles because they were five times cheaper.

Historians and others argue that regardless of cost the legislative buildings must be kept the way they were originally intended.

They appear to be winning Premier Bennett over to this point of view.

Observers believe there is a good chance special legislation will be introduced next session establishing a commission to oversee the maintenance of the buildings.

Most of the well-travelled areas in the buildings are maintained in good order.

But elsewhere decay and destruction abound.

Pensioners Meet Tuesday

Victoria Aged Pensioners Association No. 3 will hold its monthly meeting in the Legion Hall on Blanshard Street at 2 p.m. Tuesday. Members will also be guests at Cedar Hill Golf Club on Fridays.

Traffic Victim 'Serious'

An elderly Saanich man was struck by a light truck at an unlighted intersection on Tillicum last night while walking home from a grocery store.

Arthur D. Hall, 76, of 362 Ker Avenue, was in serious condition in St. Joseph's Hospital at press time with multiple fractures to both legs.

He was struck by a sedan delivery driven by Kenneth Paskin, 557 Hurst, said police.

Mr. Hall apparently was walking toward the oncoming truck on the north side of Tillicum.

There is no sidewalk on that side of the street although there is a narrow gravel shoulder. There was no street light at the Ker-Tillicum intersection.

Mr. Hall, who lives less than a block north of Tillicum, was about six feet from the intersection when he was struck, police said.

Optimism Grows As United Appeal Passes $60,000

The two-week-old United Appeal campaign for Greater Victoria has topped the $60,000 mark in its drive for $330,000, campaign officials announced last night.

Official figures show a total of $60,150 collected to date.

EARLY SURGE

At last night's meeting, campaign workers were "highly optimistic" over the early surge in donations among employee groups.

Last year the special names division was the early front runner in the campaign, but a spokesman said last night the response by employee groups in the current campaign is "something tremendous."

INTO HIGH GEAR

The campaign will go into high gear in October—proclaimed "United Appeal month."

"We are off to a far better organizational start this year," said the spokesman.

The early lead in employee giving was felt soon after Mayor Percy Scurrah read the proclamation that opened the drive Sept. 11.

RALLY PLANNED

Meanwhile, plans are near completion for a mass rally of an army of more than 1,500 volunteer canvassers who will carry out the residential canvass.

The canvassers will be guests at a special show on Sunday, Oct. 15, in the Odeon Theatre.

5 P.M. Today Deadline For Voters

New voters seeking the right to vote in the Dec. 14 civic elections have until 5 p.m. today to register with the municipal clerks of four Greater Victoria municipalities. Property-owners go on the list automatically but any tenant or resident-elector whose name was not on last year's list in his municipality will forfeit his vote this year if he fails to meet the deadline.

Woolworth Pickets Soon Back on Beat

Pickets supporting a strike against the F. W. Woolworth store in Port Alberni will resume their patrol in front of the company's Victoria store within a few days.

The decision was reached as the result of a ruling handed down yesterday by Chief Justice Sherwood Lett in Vancouver, who said the Retail Food and Drug Clerk's Union could resume the picketing halted by an injunction if printing on the pickets' signs is changed slightly.

SMALL TYPE

The judge ruled that the public was misled by the signs because the large words "On Strike" were followed with qualifying information — in small type—indicating that only the Port Alberni store was strikebound.

Union international representative John Nichol said last night the signs would be changed to comply with the court order and picketing would resume here shortly.

In Port Alberni, meanwhile, the pickets are expected to return to their posts with the new signs early this morning.

Mr. Nichol expressed agreement with the court's ruling. "The signs were printed in haste and, if they were misleading, they were inadvertently so. We have ordered them changed at once."

POLICE PRAISED

Mr. Nichol lauded the "careful attention to proper procedure" shown by Victoria police in their dealings with the pickets.

They did their work correctly and thoroughly, he said.

Building Work Still Way Down

A five-year low in construction starts, reached in August this year, remained unchanged for the second successive month, city planners said yesterday.

There is evidence, however, that the doldrums have been passed.

CONSIDERABLY LESS

September chalked up only 582 permits valued at $421,788 with the annual total running 30 per cent below 1960 figures.

Only major permit for September covered a $90,000 dental building at 1121 Yates Street. Nine single-family dwellings with a value of $118,080 were started during the month.

HEALTH MISSING

The decline in construction within the central business district continues, the planners said, while even the usually healthy alteration and repairs total was off by $55,000 for the month.

January-September cumulative totals for the past five years indicate 1961 has lagged by a considerable margin with a total of $5,271,917. Last year's figures was $7,407,606 and the 1957 total for the same period was $5,679,447.

Grilse Among Foes In Vast Navy Test

Two squadrons of Esquimalt-based warships will be among "friendly forces" defending the west coast of North America from mock submarine attacks during the next two weeks.

Among the attackers in the giant Canada-U.S. fleet anti-submarine exercise "Sea Shell" scheduled to begin Monday is the RCN Pacific Command submarine HMCS Grilse.

The international fleet exercise will involve more than 10,000 men in 150 ships, submarines and aircraft, from California to Alaska.

Rear Admiral E. W. Finch-Noyes, Maritime Commander Pacific, will be in charge of forces in the Canadian sector.

Air support will be provided by 407 Maritime Patrol Squadron based at Comox RCAF station and U.S. Navy anti-submarine patrol squadrons in California, Washington and Alaska.

Defending B.C. coastal waters against the attacking submarines will be units of the Second and Fourth Canadian Escort Squadrons commanded respectively by Capt. Victor Browne and Capt. E. T. G. Madgwick.

As part of another readiness exercise, the crews of the destroyer Margaree and frigates Sussexvale and Beacon Hill were recalled from shore leave early Friday.

Varsity Students Pick New Leader

New president of the Victoria student council is arts and science undergraduate Brian R. Little, 3535 York Place, Oak Bay.

He was formerly director of clubs and became acting president after the recent resignation of Karl Wylie.

Campaign speeches were given in the auditorium Thursday and voting was held yesterday afternoon.

Election of the new vice-president and president of the Men's Undergraduate Society will be held next week.

For This Year

Full Local Tax Bills Met by B.C. Electric

Greater Victoria municipalities will get their taxes from the crown-owned B.C. Electric for this year at least, it was disclosed here yesterday.

The utility yesterday paid its city taxes in full. The BCE cheque for $140,000 represents taxes on its property, buildings, gas mains, power poles and power lines in Victoria.

The payment is equivalent to about 1⅛ mills of the city's total tax levy.

The company also paid its $12,700 tax bill in Oak Bay and $11,500 bill in Esquimalt. Still outstanding, however, is more than $43,000 in BCE taxes in Saanich. A four per cent penalty is levied by Saanich on all taxes unpaid after Aug. 17.

A BCE statement issued yesterday said all municipal taxes, including the Saanich 1961 levy, would be paid this year, but the question would be studied again next year.

School Trips Stalled By Drivers' Dilemma

* * *

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

* * *

SAFETY FIRST: Quite a number of local elementary school teachers are in a stew over the possibility of getting involved in a traffic accident while driving pupils to inter-school sports events.

Apparently there is some confusion over whether teachers are legally responsible for any injuries their pupils may receive while travelling in their automobiles.

Some reports have it that teachers are refusing to carry pupils in their cars until the matter is clarified, and there is a danger some sports events may be cancelled.

School board officials admit they have heard "rumors" to this effect but say there is nothing definite.

And one school board spokesman said:

"If anyone has the feeling they might get into an accident they shouldn't transport anybody, pupils or adults. They should have adequate insurance coverage anyway. And to be sued for an automobile accident it must be proved the driver was grossly negligent, which means he was drunk or something. Our teachers wouldn't be that . . ."

* * *

SIGN IN PASSING: There's a sign in the parking lot out at Sandown race track which reads: "No Shunting."

A warning, no doubt, to discourage those punters who have had a bad day!

* * *

HOT SPOT: Last July 15 a bolt of lightning hit the B.C. Forest Service's Greenstone Lookout, 16 miles southwest from Kamloops.

Lookoutman George Irving was half scared to death.

Yesterday the provincial cabinet decided to ease some of Mr. Irving's suffering, agreed to pay him $50.50 for compensation for the loss of his perishable groceries and personal radio.

BRIEFLY NOTED: A slight wavering can be detected in the attitude of certain senior officials who favored the laying of lino tiles in the legislative corridors. The word is they may now be "a second look." . . . Ray Allen's Club 1208 on Wharf begins its new winter season this weekend and Ray promises quite a line-up of top entertainment will be featured. . . . Overheard at this week's hockey game between Montreal Canadiens and Spokane Comets: "That ice surface is almost as shiny as those tiles in the legislature!" . . . For at least a year and a half now reporters have been quoting government officials as saying that the old courthouse on Bastion Square will become the new headquarters for the recreation and conservation department once the new courthouse is completed. Now they say it still isn't "firm" policy.

ONE MAN'S VIEW: Visiting South African vintner Andre J. DuToit is an ardent rugby fan, which is not unnatural considering South Africa's world supremacy at the game.

During his present Canadian tour he took in the Canadian football game between Toronto and Ottawa the other day.

His comment: "Frankly, I was not impressed."

Fashion Questions, Answers

Wraps this fall vary from capes to ruglets. Our first question is on this subject.

Q. What is a ruglet?

A. A ruglet is a reversible wrap shaped much like a poncho and made of fur. It is oblong, square, oval or circle shaped with an opening in the centre for the head. It may be brief or rather large.

Revillon, the Paris high fashion house, featured ruglets in its recent collection stressing the appropriateness for winter wear when the weather is rather mild. Revillon used inexpensive but attractive furs. For instance, one oval ruglet reversed from a white Mongolian lamb side to lemon yellow squirrel fur. It topped a brown wool suit. Another ruglet in a square shape was styled of scarlet shaggy dekinked lamb which reversed to smooth black lapin. It covered a black suit with scarlet piping, lining and overblouse.

Q. What does button-length mean in describing gloves?

A. When we wish to designate how far a glove should extend beyond the wrist we refer to 4-button length, 8-button length and on up. Originally, French gloves were fastened with buttons placed an inch apart. Today, whether a glove has buttons or not, we refer to the number of inches it measures from the base of the thumb to the top edge. Starting with the briefest glove which stops short at the wrist, glove lengths continue on from 2-button to 20-button.

Glove lengths have come in for much discussion lately since it is fashionable for gloves to meet sleeve lengths. A bracelet length sleeve on a coat, meaning the sleeve ends below the elbow, may require either an 8-button or 10-button glove. An elbow length sleeve will take a 12-button glove to meet the sleeve.

"Opera gloves" for formal wear extend above the elbow and are 16-button. The most formal gloves of all are 20-button extending well up on the upper arm, almost to the shoulder.

Serve delicious pumpkin ribbon pie for Thanksgiving. It's frozen and can be made as long as a month before the big day. The crumb crust is made of bite-size shredded rice biscuits flavored with brown sugar and ginger.

October 9

Thanksgiving's Coming, And So Is Pumpkin Pie

Relax, ladies. Now there need be no more tight oven schedules on Thanksgiving Day. You won't have to worry about getting the pumpkin pie in and out of the oven in time to cook the turkey. Pumpkin Ribbon Pie, a delicious spicy ice cream and pumpkin combination, can be made the day or even a month ahead and frozen.

This is an unusual pumpkin pie—the crust has just a hint of ginger and caramel flavor but isn't very sweet. It's a crumb crust and is made of crushed bite-size shredded rice biscuits. If you're afraid of rolling a pastry crust (you shouldn't be, it isn't hard), try this crumb crust. It's as quick and easy as it is tasty. Make the crumbs in the blender or mortar and pestle them in a 4-cup measuring cup with a glass tumbler. Be careful that you don't form the top of the crust on the rim of the pie plate or it will be hard to get out of the pan without breaking the crust.

The filling is made of vanilla ice cream and pumpkin. It's a nice combination, the traditional pumpkin flavor and refreshing ice cream that is so good after a heavy meal.

Won't it be nice to get up on Thanksgiving morning and know that dessert will be ready any time that you want it? By the way, you'll have to buy a 16-ounce can of pumpkin and will have one cup left over, so why don't you just make two pies at the same time and freeze them. It will be very convenient to have one in the freezer during the busy days to come.

PUMPKIN RIBBON PIE

Crumb Crust

Four and a half cups bite-size shredded rice biscuits crushed to 1⅛ cups, ¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed, ¼ teaspoon ginger, ⅛ cup butter or margarine, melted.

Heat oven to slow (300°). Butter a 10-inch pie plate. Combine cereal crumbs, sugar and ginger. Pour butter over crumbs. Mix thoroughly. Evenly and firmly pack onto bottom and sides of pie plate, not on rim. Bake 10 minutes. Cool thoroughly.

Filling

One cup canned pumpkin, 1¼ cups sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup heavy cream, whipped, 1 pint vanilla ice cream, slightly softened.

Combine pumpkin, sugar, spices, salt and vanilla. Fold in whipped cream. Spread ice cream in bottom of cooled pie shell. Spoon on pumpkin filling. Cover and freeze 6 hours or overnight. Yield: 1 10-inch pie.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a woman, 28, who needs help with the biggest decision of my life. My son Dennis is four years old. He means the world to me. His father is in prison for a serious crime. We are divorced.

Several months ago I started to go with a fine man. Last week he asked me to marry him. I was thrilled—until he said I'd have to give Dennis to my mother. He claims the boy may have inherited some of his father's criminal tendencies and he doesn't want to be responsible for him.

At first I couldn't bear the thought of giving up my son but Mama says a woman with my background may never get another chance for happiness. She's willing to take Dennis, and she says when I have more children my heartache will disappear.

Can you point the way out? —STIGMATIZED.

Dear Friend: You'd never forgive yourself if you gave up your son. And you'd always hold it against the man you married.

Explain to your fiance that criminals are made, not born. Mental limitations can be inherited and the crippling effects of such limitations sometimes produce criminal behavior, but the vast majority of criminals are products of their upbringing and environment.

Tell your friend if he wants to marry you he'll have to accept Dennis.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed a letter which involved a rather sordid family fight. The name of the wife who wrote was Ruth and the husband was Bill. Well, it so happens that my name is Ruth and my husband's name is Bill. A few of the details sounded as if the letter could have been from me—but it wasn't.

Our friends almost died laughing. The phone rang for three days straight. People stopped me on the street to talk about it. My sister wanted to know why I was so stupid as to sign our right names.

I think it is unfair of you to use real names. You should change them to protect the innocent as well as the guilty. And please print this. Thank you.—MAD AT YOU.

Dear Mad: I did change the names—to Ruth and Bill.

Sixteen-storey luxury hotel for retired folk, first of its kind in Canada, is planned to overlook Satellite Channel.

$6,000,000 Apartment Hotel Planned for Retired People

Plans for a $6,000,000 high-rise seafront apartment hotel midway between Mill Bay and Cowichan Bay for retired people were announced in Victoria yesterday by a Vancouver construction engineer.

Allan C. Smith of Vancouver, whose firm designed the hotel, said construction will start "as soon as possible." He is completing the working drawings.

The 16-storey hotel, called Westward Ho, will be built on 50 acres of waterfront land just south of Cherry Point, facing across Satellite Channel toward Salt Spring Island.

It will be the first of its kind in Canada. Unlike apartment hotels elsewhere in which tenants purchase suites, Westward Ho will offer lifetime leases of from $6,000 to $17,000 to married or single people from 65 years of age up.

Mr. Smith said his firm inspected numerous retirement hotels in the United States during the past 1½ years and is "satisfied Westward Ho will embody the best that any similar project in the U.S. affords and many items that they do not."

Residents will pay about $125 per person each month on a lifetime care program for such services as food, laundry, maid service, room cleaning, a 300-seat auditorium, a library, swimming pool, golf course, hobby shop and rooms for billiards, cards, sewing and TV.

The hotel will have accommodation and dining facilities for 500 persons and a staff of more than 100.

Residents will be free to come and go as they please. They will be in the same age group and a director will help co-ordinate recreational activities.

Two fast elevators in a central tower will carry residents from one floor to another and another shaft will be built in case a third elevator is needed.

THREE WINGS

Design embodies three separate wings, with picture windows and balconies, joined to a central tower containing luxury suites, elevators, lounge, dining facilities, pool, power plant and rooms for games and hobby rooms.

Fifty acres of land with nearly half a mile of shoreline is already owned by the promoters. Private financing is being arranged.

Water will be drawn either from deep wells or piped from Shawnigan Lake, four miles away, said a spokesman.

Rooms and restaurant facilities will also be available to relatives and friends visiting Westward Ho's permanent guests.

Hunter Turns Up

NANAIMO — Overdue and missing on a Valdez Island hunting trip, Fred Stubbs of Nanaimo turned up safely on his own yesterday morning.

RCAF search and rescue officials launched an air search for the hunter after he was reported overdue.

Sneezer Sniffed By Police

DUNCAN — A Cobble Hill man charged with impaired driving told Magistrate A. C. Sutton here yesterday that his car swerved because he sneezed and that he staggered because the road was rough.

Bertrand Lackovich pleaded not guilty to the charge, but was convicted on police testimony and fined $150.

Police said they could smell liquor on Lackovich "from six feet away."

Crofton Newsprint Mill

First Contract Soon

DUNCAN — A National Employment Service official said here yesterday a contract for the first phase of a $24,000,000 Crofton newsprint mill project will be let shortly.

The contract will cover construction of a warehouse at B.C. Forest Products Ltd.'s Crofton plant and a start will be made as soon as it is let.

John Grieve, manager of the firm's pulp division, said the major portion of the project will not get under way until 1963 due to the long waiting period connected with delivery of the paper machine.

Woman's Legs Fractured In Collision with Car

PORT ALBERNI — Mrs. Barbara Evitt is in fair condition in West Coast General Hospital where authorities said she was being treated for fractures of both legs and lacerations of the forehead.

Mrs. Evitt was knocked down by a car near her home at 602 Bute Street.

Police said charges have not been laid. Driver of the vehicle was Blake Richard Chipman, they said.

Employment Going Up Duncan Area Report

DUNCAN—Employment here is on the upswing, according to the National Employment Service.

Duncan NES branch manager R. S. Robinson said increased employment is the result of the logging industry returning to normal production following fire-hazard layoffs.

New Hospital Plans Passed in Ladysmith

LADYSMITH—Sketch plans for the proposed extension of Ladysmith General Hospital were approved at a board of directors meeting this week. Architect Donald Wagg of Victoria delivered the plans.

The planning committee includes administrator Ian Peddie, director of nursing Mrs. Eleanor Campbell, Dr. R. J. Stirling, representing the medical staff, board members D. H. McKay, John Ulinder, Mrs. G. B. Lytton; president William Hallinan and Stanley Heys, representing the community ways and means committee.

Costs are not yet available said Mr. Peddie, but BCHIS had recommended building of a much larger wing than the board proposed.

NASSER ADMITS REPUBLIC'S FALL

Accidents Kill Three Tots On Island

Three Vancouver Island children died in two widely separated accidents yesterday.

A freak accident took the life of a three-year-old Sidney boy when a stove toppled onto him as he played in a woodshed, and a baby boy and his three-year-old sister perished when a home was destroyed by fire near Port Alberni.

RCMP said William Burnson, 2203 Queens, was pronounced dead on arrival at Resthaven Hospital.

The boy had been playing in a backyard woodshed when the 80-pound stove fell on him.

He was found by his mother, Mrs. Verna Burnson only minutes after she had refused him a jam sandwich because of a planned early dinner.

Mrs. William Ewen, 10184 Melissa—the boy's grandmother who lives only 200 yards from the Burnson home—said her daughter came running to the house for her help.

"She was terrified and we phoned the police and ambulance," Mrs. Ewen said.

SEEMED HOURS

"After that we both ran to the woodshed, and I felt his pulse—I knew he was dead. It seemed like hours before the ambulance came, but I guess it was only a very few minutes," she added.

A small tricycle was found near the accident scene, indicating the boy may have accidentally tipped the stove while riding through the woodshed.

He is survived by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Burnson; a sister Debbie; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sapsford, and Mr. and Mrs. William Ewen.

Police said an inquiry will be held next week.

LEFT ALONE

One-year-old Patrick Joe died when flames completely destroyed the home of his parents on the Polly Point Indian Reserve on the outskirts of Port Alberni. His sister, Adeline, died a few hours afterwards from burns.

The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Joe had been left alone in the house while their parents went to town, police said last night. Two of the four escaped the fire unharmed.

The children's mother told RCMP that a heater had been left burning in the home.

Truckers Give Early

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario and Quebec trucking companies this week took a stand against the practice of giving Christmas gifts and diverted the money to education instead.

The 54 member companies of the Trucking Industry Foundation celebrated Christmas in September by handing out $44,000 to students instead of buying gifts for their customers.

Ross Not Quitting

Vancouver industrialist Frank M. Ross met with Premier Bennett late yesterday to find out his duties as a director of the Crown-owned B.C. Electric—not to resign from the job.

The former lieutenant-governor said he had had no opportunity until this time to acquaint himself with the duties, powers and scope of the directorship.

"After all, I received the appointment by telephone while I was away on holidays," he said.

Vancouver newspapers had headlined rumors that Mr. Ross was resigning from his post as director.

After hearing word of defeat in Syria, dejected President Nasser and Vice-President Kamal Hussein ponder a way to break news to Cairo masses.

'Imperialists' Get the Blame

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic collapsed yesterday.

Syria declared its independence from the union with Egypt after a lightning revolution and set up a civilian transitional government to rule until a parliament can be named in free elections.

Nasser halted all military operations against Syria in a tacit admission of defeat.

SOCIALIST REGIME

Revlutionary Premier Mamoun Al-Kuzbari indicated last night in a broadcast that his government would be socialist. Al-Kuzbari said his cabinet would guarantee freedom of the press, election and "other freedoms" during a four-month interim rule and that his government would "implement true socialist policy."

Al-Kuzbari said that the new Syrian republic "once again reaffirms that it is the pulsating and impregnable fortress of Arabism."

SWIFT VICTORY

The rebels' victory was so swift and so complete that both Jordan and Turkey immediately recognized the new Syrian government and pledged support. Other Arab nations jealous of Nasser's power were expected to follow suit.

Nasser has dispatched warships, transports and an expeditionary force including 2,000 paratroops Thursday from Egypt. Paratroops already had been dropping on the port of Latakia when Nasser learned of the success of the revolt and called off the invasion.

FORCE CAPTURED

Damascus radio said a force of 200 Egyptian paratroopers at Latakia had been "wiped out" but said later they were captured. Nasser told a rally in Cairo he had ordered 120 paratroopers dropped there to surrender so Arab would not fight Arab.

It was Nasser's greatest crisis since the Israeli and Anglo-French invasion of Suez in 1955 and he reacted bitterly with a speech in which he blamed the forces of imperialism for his defeat.

PREMIER AL-KUZBARI

Shake-Up Likely In Middle East

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Syria's break with Nasser's United Arab Republic was expected to bring a re-alignment of Arab politics that could create new dangers to the stability of the Middle East.

Syria, long a centre of intrigue, was being heavily infiltrated with Communists before it merged with Egypt and Nasser outlawed the Communist party. As a separate country, it again could be subject to such influences.

INTERNAL ORIGIN

The Middle East also was expected to see a jockeying for power among Arab nations. Both Jordan, which quickly recognized the new Syrian government, and Iraq have ambitions of becoming the leader of the Arab world. Syria could fall into alignment with these states.

State department spokesman Joseph Reap said the uprising appeared to be of "internal origin." Other officials said the revolt apparently was not Communist-led although the Reds might try to make capital of it.

INTO BAD HOLE

Diplomatic observers said Nasser appeared to have "dug himself into a bad hole" by refusing to compromise politically with discontented Syrians who complained that their country was forced to play second fiddle to Egypt in the UAR.

The revolt came at a time when Nasser's relations with Russia appeared to be worsening. A propaganda battle broke out last spring between Moscow and Cairo.

Churchill Too Frail To Travel

CHARTWELL, England (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill declined Friday night an invitation to attend the Oct. 14 foundation-laying ceremony at a new Cambridge University college which is to bear his name.

Sir Winston's secretary said it was thought the 100-mile trip to Cambridge might be too much for the 86-year-old statesman, but "there is absolutely no cause for concern."

Swift Death Ghana Rule

ACCRA, Ghana (UPI) — President Nkrumah's office announced yesterday a special supreme court with powers to pass the death penalty has been created to deal swiftly with persons convicted of anti-government activities.

MP's Barbs Upset Columbia Hearing

NAKUSP, B.C. (CP) — Provincial water comptroller A. F. Paget Friday threatened to adjourn public hearings on the proposed Columbia River development and hear testimony in private after a verbal run-in with H. W. Herridge, CCF MP for Kootenay West.

Mr. Herridge, describing himself as a property owner in an area which will be flooded out by the proposed High Arrow Dam, described as "a lot of bunk" statements made by Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission.

BY HIGH ARROW

Dr. Keenleyside told the hearing on the B.C. Power Commission application for a licence to proceed with the $458,000,000 Columbia works that 65 per cent of the expected power from the Columbia development would be provided by the High Arrow Dam. High Arrow, he said, would provide 80 per cent of the expected flood control benefits and without it the proposed giant Mica Creek Dam could not be built.

LOT OF BUNK

Mr. Herridge said he was "astounded to hear what Dr. Keenleyside has said here today. It's a lot of bunk."

This remark was greeted with applause by a large section of 100 or more attending.

Water comptroller Paget intervened.

"If this is the way you intend to carry on," he told Mr. Herridge, "we will have to adjourn the hearing and listen to the witnesses at private sessions."

The Kootenay MP said he protested the granting of the water licence to the BCPC on the ground that it was not in the best interests, nationally, provincially or locally.

"In my opinion it is immoral for this generation to permit the destruction of 60 years of public and private investment to provide low-cost power in the U.S. and jobs for United States citizens."

Mr. Herridge contended High Arrow was a "second-best development" and said Mica Creek was the key to development.

Margaret 'Quite Fit'

LONDON (AP) — Buckingham Palace announced Friday night Princess Margaret's baby—expected at the end of October or early in November—will be born in Clarence House. Palace sources said Margaret, 31, is "quite fit and well."

Baptists 'Flirting' With Communists

TORONTO (CP)—The Gospel Witness, published by the Baptist Church, has accused the Baptist Federation of Canada with "collaboration with Communists."

The accusation came in the current issue of The Witness, in connection with the visit to Canada by three Russian Baptist ministers.

THREE NAMED

The three are Dr. Jacob Zhidkov, president of the All Union Evangelical Christian Baptist Council in Moscow and vice-president of the World Baptist Alliance; his son, Rev. Michael Zhidkov, and Rev. Elia Ivanov.

The Gospel Witness says the International Council of Christian Churches protested the presence of Dr. Zhidkov at the World Baptist Alliance when it met last year in Rio de Janeiro.

OPEN ARMS

"In the light of present day activity, when Baptist leaders fall for the Communist line of peaceful co-existence and welcome with open arms these representatives of the Communist regime which is godless and un-Christian, we see further justification for the stand taken and the far-reaching consequences of the effects of unbelief and modernism.

"Now we have these agents present in Canada and sponsored by the Baptist Federation of Canada," The Witness said.

A Nation Goes Silent A Wreath Asks Why

UPPSALA, Sweden (AP) — Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general of the United Nations, was buried at his boyhood home Friday with honors heretofore given in Sweden only to royalty.

Regal simplicity marked the last journey of the dedicated diplomat who travelled so many miles in the cause of world peace and the United Nations.

Wrapped in the blue-and-gold flag of his native Sweden, his coffin at the end held but a single wreath. It was that of his king, Gustav VI Adolf.

★ ★ ★

As the sun set, an order went out from the government for a nationwide moment of silence. Everything—cars, trains, factories, ships and people—came to a halt.

Men from all over the world paid homage in Uppsala's 700-year-old Lutheran cathedral to the secretary-general who lost his life with 15 others in a plane crash Sept. 18 while flying on a Congo peace mission.

★ ★ ★

King Gustav VI Adolf and Queen Louise walked slowly before the hushed crowd to the coffin.

The king stopped and bowed deeply—a unique tribute from a monarch to a commoner. The Queen followed and she too bowed to the bier. They stood for a long time.

★ ★ ★

Among the hundreds of wreaths, one stood out.

Sent by Hammarskjold's brother, Sten, and Sten's daughter, Marlene, it was a wreath of red daffodils and two red roses.

On a ribbon was the single word:

"Why?"

There'll Always Be Motherland!

COL. M. DOPPING-HEPENSTAL
. . . 'poppycock!'

Six well-known residents of Vancouver Island yesterday rose up in anger to defend the feelings of those with close and affectionate ties with Britain.

The cause of their anger: a statement by Douglas Fisher of Port Arthur, Ont., CCF MP and a delegate to the Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference, that most Canadians no longer look upon England as a mother country but as a tourist attraction.

Mr. Fisher, speaking to the parliamentary conference in London Thursday, said:

"Unlike our Australian and New Zealand friends, we can't accept this whole business of mother country. The days when a Canadian could boast 'A British subject I was born, a British subject I shall die' are past."

"Poppycock!" Col. M. Dopping-Hepenstal, 90, snorted into his telephone.

"Lies," sniffed Lady Constance Drayton from her suite in the Empress Hotel. "Just the yattering of riff-raff."

"Never heard such damned nonsense," bellowed Frank Boucher, 77, president of Victoria's Royal Society of St. George.

When reporters telephoned Col. Dopping Hepenstal, his housekeeper explained that the colonel was resting and shouldn't be disturbed. But he scurried to the telephone when told what had been said about Canada's attitude to England.

"Can't let this be said unanswered," he said. "It's nothing but poppycock. Never heard of such a ridiculous statement.

"Who is this Fisher? He doesn't know what he is talking about. He should be hauled over the carpet for this."

"It's lies," said Lady Drayton. "My heart, and I am sure the hearts of many, swells with pride when I know I am still connected to England.

"This man said a wicked, wicked thing. It makes me sad, so sad."

Mrs. Bertha Parsons, 74-year-old member of the Kipling Society, said Canadians mustn't lose the "spirit of England."

"My dear old father would rise in his grave if he heard such a stupid statement."

Canadian-born Gen. C. A. P. Murison of Duncan, said he still honors England as his mother country.

"We have to have a mother country. I think we should all be proud and grateful to have England."

Sir Philip Livingstone, former medical director of the Royal Air Force and once an honorary surgeon to King George VI, called Mr. Fisher's remarks "untrue, ill-conceived and disloyal.

"Things like that are often said by disgruntled people getting their own back because of a minor grudge," he said from his home at Qualicum Beach. "It's disgusting."

. . . 'disgusting'
